DEATH IN GREAT COAST GALE

SOUND LINER IN PERIL, SANDWICH TOWN FLOODED

Deaths on land and water, wreckage of shipping, blockade of steam and trolley lines, tremendous property damage, an unusually high tide and a flooding of the low water-front of the town of Sandwich on Cape Cod Bay were caused by an eighty-five-mile northeaster of snow and wind which lashed the North Atlantic coast today.

The Boston weather bureau issued the following forecast at 10 o'clock:

"Fair tonight and Thursday; northwest gales diminishing Thursday."

A milkman was instantly killed at Central Falls, R. I., by stepping on a live electric light wire blown down by the gale.

Four men were killed in a tenement house fire in Portland, the blizzard hampering the firemen and fanning the smoke and flames.

Two laborers were blown from a gang-plank in the Erie Basin, New York, and one was drowned.

THE WHITNEY IN PERIL.

The Metropolitan line steamer Henry M. Whitney, bound from New York to Boston, was reported having a fearful struggle with the blizzard at daybreak in Vineyard Sound, two miles off Woods Hole. The Whitney had anchored to ride out the blast and was plunging wildly, with heavy seas breaking over her.

The vessel was spied by the Nobska light observer through a rift in the storm. The United States revenue cutter Acushnet, waiting at Woods Hole with steam up, was ready to go out at the Whitney's first call for aid.

Sandwich on Cape Cod bay was deluged by a tide higher than any since the famous tide of 1898 which

OFFER LETTERS IN FERNCROFT PROMISE SUIT

Judge Fessenden, at the trial today of Miss Elizabeth M. Ryan's $50,000 breach of promise suit against Harry K. Mansfield, proprietor of the Ferncroft Inn, announced that letters the plaintiff claims Mansfield wrote to her had been produced and were in the custody of the court clerk.

During her cross-examination Miss Ryan had testified that these letters were "about twenty" in number. She said that some of her letters had been burned in a fire at the inn.

Mrs. Frances Hempstone, who testified that she had heard Mansfield propose to Miss Ryan, was the first witness called today. She was questioned by Michael Sullivan, counsel for Mansfield, regarding a visit the defendant paid to her apartment in New York at a time when Miss Ryan was her guest.

Mrs. Hempstone testified she heard Mansfield say to Miss Ryan:

"Bess, come back to Boston and on my word of honor I'll marry you!"

The witness said this happened during a visit of Mansfield to her apartment in New York when Miss Ryan was her guest.

Mrs. Hempstone said her daughter had accompanied Miss Ryan on a trip to Boston. She said she did not know that her daughter had staid at the inn. She said that she had "studied" Miss Ryan.

Mrs. Hempstone took the stand at 10:25.

WAS DAUGHTER'S FRIEND.

Q.—How many times previous to January, 1911, did you talk with Miss Ryan? A.—A number of times.

Q.—She was a friend of your daughter? A.—Yes.

Q.—The companion of your daughter? A.—Yes.

Q.—As a friend and companion of your daughter, she called to see your daughter? A.—Yes.

Q.—You are interested in what young ladies do? A.—Yes.

Q.—Now in January when Miss Ryan telephoned you and you invited her to your home, did you have any talk with your daughter about Miss Ryan? A.—No.

Q.—What did you call Miss Ryan? A.—I called her Miss Ryan at first. After a while I called her Bess.

Q.—You were careful as a mother to make inquiries about the character of your daughtere's companions? A.—Yes.

Q.—So you did not inquire of your daughter about Miss Ryan? A.—No.

Attorney Coakley objected to this line of question on the ground that "it irritates."

Q.—Do my questions irritate you? A.—Nothing irritates me, Mr. Sullivan.

Sullivan to Coakley: Does it irritate you, Mr. Coakley?

Coakley: If it does, I'll let you know.

Sullivan: I hope you'll be as kind to me.

Q.—You knew Miss Ryan was a young woman who had to work for her living? A.—Yes.

Q.—You knew she was a cloak model and earned a salary? A.—No.

Q.—You knew very well that the salary she received from the company with which she was playing wasn't extremely large? A.—Sometimes it was.

Q.—Were you friendly with Miss Ryan? A.—Yes; I was studying Miss Ryan. I studied her because she was coming into my home.

KITCHENER ASKS WOMEN TO HELP SAVE ENGLAND

LONDON, Jan. 13.—London newspapers print the following advertisement from Lord Kitchener, in charge of the War Office, under the heading, "FOUR QUESTIONS TO THE WOMEN OF ENGLAND":

1—You have read what the Germans have done in Belgium; have you thought what they would do if they invaded England?

2—Do you realize that the safety of your home and children depends on our getting more men now?

3—Do your realize that the one word "Go" may send another man to fight for our King and country?

4—When the war is over and your husband or your son is asked: "What did you do in the great war?" is he to hang his head because you would not let him go? Women of England, do your duty! Send your men today to join our glorious army! GOD SAVE THE THE KING!

GERMAN SUBMARINE ATTACK IS REPULSED BY GUNS OF FORTS ON ENGLISH COAST

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A dispatch to the Evening News from Dover reports that land batteries fired upon two hostile submarines this morning, sinking them.

DOVER, England, Jan. 13.—Another German submarine attack against Dover was attempted today, but was repelled by the forts guarding the harbor. When the submarines were seen the land batteries opened fire and the vessels disappeared. It is reported that airships were seen over English Channel heading for the English coast last night.

GERMANS HURL BACK FOE IN TERRIFIC BATTLE IN FRANCE

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The fury of the battle in France is indicated in French and German official reports today. Berlin claims distinct success on the northern end of the battle front and the admission by Paris that the French have been compelled to yield ground confirms the German version of the fighting. Results, however, are by no means decisive as yet.

Gallieni, former military Governor of Paris, is at the head of a new French army of nearly 400,000 men that is forcing an offensive of big proportions against the Germans near Soissons and Rheims. The aim of the French is to so threaten or weaken the German centre, as to force retreat along the entire line.

The Berlin report says that the German artillery in West Flanders has succeeded in causing the French to evacuate some of their trenches at Palinsburgh, a suburb of Nieuport, about a mile west of Lombaertzyde. French attacks near Cernay have been re-

Chinese Note Is Ignored by Japan; Situation Acute

TOKIO, Jan. 13.—There is a tension between Japan and China as a result of a note sent by China to Great Britain and Japan announcing that China has abolished the war zone on the Shantung Peninsula. It is is understood Japan will ignore the notification. It is not believed Japan will withdraw her troops from the Shantung Railroad, as the war between her and Germany has not ended. The situation is described as acute.

Pomeroy Prays as Mother Is Buried

With only a few friends and relatives present the body of Mrs. Ruth M. Pomeroy, seventy-three, mother of Jesse Pomeroy, was laid at rest in the North Weymouth cemetery.

While services were being conducted at her home at No. 47 Pearl street, North Weymouth, by the Rev. Charles Clark of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, North Weymouth, the Rev. William P. Whitney, chaplain at the State Prison, prayed with her son Jesse in his cell in the Charlestown State Prison. A wreath from Jesse was placed on the casket.

Bohemians Ask for Protection

GENEVA, Jan. 13.—A Prague dispatch says: "Leading citizens, including several deputies, have petitioned the Emperor, demanding more protection for Bohemia from the Russian invasion. Otherwise, it is intimated, the Bohemians will cast their lot with the allies.

ROME IS SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE

PARIS, Jan. 13.—A private dispatch from Rome this afternoon stated that a number of persons had been killed and injured in the earthquake and that heavy damage was done in many towns around Rome.

ROME, Jan. 13.—The most severe earthquake ever felt in Rome rocked the city today. It did extensive damage to buildings. The populace was thrown into a panic and thousands of people fled the city.

The last serious earthquake in Rome occurred about sixteen years ago. The first shock began at 7:55 o'clock.

According to the Vatican observatory, the shocks were undulatory, the first lasting five seconds and the latter thirty seconds. St. Paul's statue was shifted on its base by the shock and was moved slightly to the left.

Outside of this city the earth movement was felt as far as Florence, Naples and the Adriatic Sea.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—An earthquake shock of considerable severity was recorded by the seismograph in West Bromwich observatory at 6:56 o'clock. It was estimated that the seat of the disturbance was 1,100 miles away. The shock was fully as strong as that which destroyed Messina in 1908.

The pointers of the seismograph oscillated eight inches.

Execute Turks for Slight to Germany

PETROGRAD, Jan. 13.—A Moscow dispatch says that Enver Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, caused the execution of a number of Turkish officers at Erzerum because they spoke disrespectfully of Germany.

JEROME MAY GET THAW ON SUNDAY

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 12.—Harry K. Thaw is making hurried preparations to leave Manchester. It has been stated on good authority that he will be on his way to New York before Sunday.

Today he was in consultation with a real estate broker and a notary public, and it is said papers for the cancellation of the lease of his house were signed. His servants have been given notice of discharge January 22.

Railway Clerks Extend Jurisdiction

The Eastern Federation of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks ended a two days' convention at the Quincy House by ordering a revision of by-laws and extending jurisdiction to east of Buffalo and north of the Pennsylvania Railroad. These officers were elected: Board of adjustment, M. H. Murray of Providence, chairman; H. P. Hines of Worcester, vice-chairman; H. L. Plummer of Portland, Me., secretary-treasurer.

Fire in Castle Square Hotel

Guests at the Castle Square Hotel were startled and a number fled their rooms when the fire apparatus clattered up to the doors. A small fire was discovered behind a radiator in room 215 on the second floor. The fire was caused by an overheated steam pipe.

Save Passengers of Wrecked Liner

TOKIO, Jan. 13.—All the passengers on the Peninsular & Oriental Steamship Line's steamer Nile, which was wrecked on Awa Island on the Inland Sea, were rescued today.

LATEST War Bulletins

PETROGRAD, Jan. 13.—The Turkish advance guard occupied Tabriz, Persia, on Wednesday, according to an official dispatch received here today.

Next to Teheran, the Persian capital, Tabriz is the largest city in the country. It lies in the province of Azerbaijan, about thirty miles from Lake Urumiah. Its population is about 175,000. A strong Russian garrison has been maintained there since Russia made all the northern part of Persia into the "Russian sphere of influence."

RUSSIAN FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Tiflis, Trans-Caucasia, Jan. 13.—The Turkish army operating in eastern Armenia and northwestern Persia is devastating the country and is leaving the country a desert in its wake. Sixty thousand persons are homeless. Thousands are freezing to death in the mountain passes of Trans-Caucasia. The Turks have begun to slaughter Christians, the refugees report, and terror reigns.

Couldn't Stop Tears, Foreman Kills Self

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Because he could not stop weeping, Percival France, forty, blew out his brains at his home here. France, who was foreman for a street paving company was subject to fits of sobbing for no apparent reason. His associates, it is said, poked fun at him for it, and this is supposed to have worried him.

pulsed and German counter attacks there have been successful.

"French attacks at La Boisselle Hill and Touvion," the report continues, "were repulsed. Yeterday's unsuccessful attacks on the hills near Cernay were followed by German counter attacks which resulted in the complete defeat for the enemy, clearing the hills to the northeast of Bushie and also north of Cernay. We took two French positions, 1,700 prisoners, four cannon and several machine guns."

The Germans have sent another batch of new aeroplanes and dirigibles into Belgium, stationing them at Ghent. It is now learned that the German air raid on Dunkirk was made simultaneously with a visit by President Poincare to that city. The French President visited the French base hospitals there and distributed gifts among the wounded.

Field Marshal Sir John French is moving fresh British troops to the front to meet the German attacks east of Amiens.

GERMANS CHECKED.

The latest German advance on Warsaw has been halted, according to Petrograd reports, which say that the Russians are holding their line firmly against Field Marshal von Hindenburg before Warsaw, where four terrific assaults by the Germans at one point were repulsed.

In southern Poland the Russians have resumed the advance on Cracow, says another Petrograd dispatch. In Bukowina the Russians are advancing at about a dozen miles a day toward a junction with the Servian army.

The Germans are keeping the Mazurian Lakes open with ice-breakers to block the Russain advance in East Prussia, where the Russian troops hold positions around the lakes and have been waiting for the lakes to freeze over before resuming their offensive.

TURK REGIMENT CAPTURED

Hard fighting with the Turks in Transcaucasia is reported by the Petrograd War Office.

There is also fighting on the Olytsu River, which engagement is going in favor of the Russians. In the region of Karaurgan, twenty miles southwest of Sari-Kamiseh, fighting is also going on, with the advantage to the Czar's troops. On the 11th the Russians captured the Ninety-second Turkish Regiment, consisting of eleven officers, three surgeons and about 1,500 men. They also destroyed a battalion of the Fifty-second Regment. The survivors, one officer and 250 men, were all captured.

The Turks who are fighting around Karaurgan on the Erzerum road are the remnants of the force that was defeated at Sari-Kamisch. Enver Pasha is in command of the Turkish forces around Ardahan, but they have been too badly scattered, the report says, to give any help to the balance of the Turkish army of invasion.

During the early stages of the fighting near Karaurgan the Russians captured Moury Bey, chief of staff of the Third Ottoman Army Corps.

BRESLAU IS DAMAGED.

Naval activity in the Black Sea is chronicled by a dispatch from Sebastopol that says:

"On January 6 our cruisers sighted the Midirli (formerly the German cruiser Breslau) and Hamjidieh in the middle of the night. The second broadside from our ships destroyed the Midirli's searchlight. The two vessels ceased firing and disappeared in the darkness.

"At the Turkish marine bases of Sourmene and Riza we destroyed fifty-one vessels. The Turkish cruisers bombarded the port of Hoha, setting many buildings on fire. The Turkish cruiser Midirli by mistake bombarded the positions of the Turks near Liman, north of Hopa, causing the Turkish forces to evacuate the points they held."

Papers today print an advertisement from Lord Kitchener under the heading "Four questions to the women of Engcation, which reached here today, says:

"The enemy's attempt to cross the Nida River was renewed with violent artillery fire. On the entire front in land," in which the head of the War Office makes an earnest appeal for the co-operation of the women of the realm in stimulating patriotism and enlistment by the subjects of the King.

ROUMANIA NEAR WAR.

Significance is given to the audience today between King George and M. N. Misu, the new Roumanian minister to Great Britain. It is regarded as giving weight to the report that Roumania will soon enter the war on the side of the allies against Germany.

In the same connection the Sofia correspondent of the Times wires that Roumania will probably attack Austria in the middle of February, invading Transylvania, where the Roumanian army will cooperate with the Russians. The feeling is strong in Roumania that Italy will join the allies in the Spring.

From the Far East comes a report of an acute situation between Japan and China. A Tokio despatch says there is growing tension between the two countries as a result of a note sent by China to Great Britain and Japan announcing that China has abolished the war zone on the Shantung Peninsula. It is understood Japan will ignore the notification. It is not believed Japan will withdraw her troops from the Shantung Railroad, as the war between her and Germany has not ended.

ITALIANS DEMAND WAR.

The war spirit in Italy is still intense in spite of the fact that Turkey has agreed to Italian demands in the Hodeida incident and will salute the flag of Italy when it is raised on the Hodeida consulate.

The people are clamoring for war, says a Rome dispatch, especially against Austria.

Cries of "Viva Italia!" "Viva France!" "Viva Trent and Trieste!" "Down with Austria!" and "War, war!" are constantly heard in the streets of Rome.

Germans are leaving Italy in large numbers. Many applications which they have made for Italian nationality during the last few days have been refused. A committee of national defence in the event of Italian intervention has been formed at Milan comprising the most eminent names of Lombardy.

Information which has reached diverse diplomatic quarters in Rome confirms the rumor that Austria-Hungary is massing 300,000 troops for a fresh expedition against Servia and that Germany has also dispatched to the aid of its ally, for this coming movement, considerable re-enforcements, 60,000 of whom are assembling at Sarajevo.

War Has Cost Ten Billion Dollars in Five Months

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, Jan. 13.—The Vorwaerts estimates that the aggregate war expenditure of the belligerents for the first five months have been $1,000,000,000. The daily expenditure is figured at $45,000,000. The damage to Belgium and East Prussia is estimated at $1,710,000,000 and the shipping losses at $1,100,000,000.

Threaten to Lynch American Held as Spy

PARIS, Jan. 13.—William Dodsworth, financial manager of the American Express Company here, was arrested as a spy on the Boulevards and a crowd threatened to lynch him before he was taken to the police station. The mistake was rectified quickly. Prefect of Police Laurent personally called on Mr. Dodsworth to express regrets.

Invaders Mine Coal to Ship to Germany

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 13.—A Telegraaf dispatch says the Germans are employing 40,000 miners in the colliery district around Mons, Louvain and Charleroi, and that the coal is being sent to Germany. The miners are paid two francs daily. The dispatch also says some of the finest trees in the forests around Namur, Brabant and Hainault are being felled and sent to Germany.

Condemn North Adams School

NORTH ADAMS, Jan. 13.—The State police voted to close the two top floors of the Drury High School building as unsafe.

Don't Give Up!

"Oh, how my back hurts."

Nowadays, deaths due to weak kidneys are 72% more common than 20 years ago, according to the census. Over-work and worry are the causes. The kidneys can't keep up, and a slight kidney weakness is usually neglected. If you have backache, dizzy spells, sick headaches, or urinary disorders, don't mistake the cause. Fight the danger. More care as to diet, habits, etc., and the use of Doan's Kidney Pills ought to bring quick relief. There are hundreds of thousands of people all over the world who recommend Doan's.

A Typical Case in Cambridge

Mrs. Timothy Doyle, 59 Flagg St., Cambridge, says: "I often suffered from backache and was annoyed by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. At such times I find Doan's Kidney Pills valuable. They never fail to make my kidneys normal and relieve pain across the small of my back. I haven't had any trouble now for about two years."

U. S. CONTROVERSY OVER SHIPS ACUTE

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The London Times today displays prominently a column dispatch from its Washington correspondent warning the British government that the United States is not at all satisfied with Great Britain's reply to the American note. The correspondent says:

"No amount of argument will ever convince the American public that our policy on contraband goods is not arbitrary. Aggressively patriotic organs like Mr. Hearst's newspapers are unequivocally bitter."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—It was apparent today that the optimistic expressions from many sources regarding the outcome of the United States' protest against the seizure and detention of American ships was premature, to say the least.

In official circles, while the controversy is still admittedly only in the preliminary stages, there is no attempt to disguise the possibilities of disagreeable developments in the impending negotiatons.

The reasons for growing uneasiness in the State Department can be set down principally to two causes:

First—The expected seizure by Great Britain of the Dacia, the Hamburg-American liner, recently given American register, will make the situation more acute.

Second—Appeals by shippers that the United States shall stand firm on the right to ship American cargoes unmolested to neutral ports.

SHIPPERS TAKE RISKS.

The importance of this latter contention, a high State Department official said today, cannot be overestimated. The ground upon which this insistence is made by shippers is this:

The United States, Italy, Holland and the Scandinavian countries have agreed not to ship contraband to the enemies of Great Britain.

Great Britain does not allege her patrols have seized any United States vessel with contraband, the ultimate destination of which was known to be a German or Austrian port.

Whatever contraband has been shipped from the United States it has been to some neutral port.

The law permits the shipment of contraband at the risk of the shipper. The obligation to seize contraband rests with the belligerent whose interests would be affected by its receipt in an enemy's country.

NEUTRALITY NOT VIOLATED.

United States shippers, having admittedly sent no contraband direct to the enemies of Great Britain, the United States' contention is that shippers are within their rights and have not violated the neutrality guaranteed by the United States.

The United States contention is that if contraband cargoes out of the United States are finding their way into Germany and Austria through one of the neutral European countries, Great Britain's remedy lies with those countries and not with the United States.

The State Department and the White House are making efforts to present commercial statistics to show that Sir Edward Grey's figures were incorrect and misleading. Collector of the Port of New York Dudley Field Malone was at the White House. In an interview later he said it costs shippers $500 to $1,000 a day to charter ships. A ship is held up, taken to a British port and detained two or three weeks.

The British government may decide to take and pay for a part of the cargo. But the shipper has to pay $1,000 for every day of detention.

WOOL SHIP ARYAN FREED BY BRITISH

The British government has agreed to allow the clipper ship Aryan, loaded at Sydney, Australia, with 10,000 bales of wool, to sail for Boston, according to Eugene P. Carver of Brookline, chief owner of the ship today.

The British had detained the Aryan for several weeks and her release was effected through the protest of Secretary of State Bryan and Senator Lodge.

The Aryan's wool was purchased before the embargo went into effect. Three other ships laden with United States cargoes are suffering from retroactive British war orders. These are the Norwegian steamers Alfred Nobel and Bjornstjerne Bjornson, loaded chiefly with lard, bacon and other products of Chicago packing houses, held with their cargoes in British ports since the middle of November, and the Swedish steamer Fridland.

It is said by the owners of the vessels that they sailed from the United States before the British announcement of October 29 that all supplies that a belligerent army might utilize must be definitely consigned to some firm or individual.

The Dacia of the Hamburg-American Line, placed under American registry, and which the British have threatened to seize if she goes on the high seas, is the only ship that line intends to sell, according to H. F. Dorgeloh, acting manager of the Boston office of the line. He said: "I guess the company expects the war to be over pretty soon and does not want to lose any of its ships."

Italy to Buy 10,000 Horses in Illinois

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Jan. 13.—Italian Army officers will be here on Friday or Saturday to place an order for 10,000 horses, according to information received today.

Turks Hold Back Russians Five Days

PETROGRAD, Jan. 13.—The Turks are reported to have assembled 100,000 men at Kara Urganan, where they have succeeded in checking the victorious Russians on the threshhold of the Ottoman territory. Turkish resistance in this region has already lasted five days.

Austrians and Germans Quit Rome

ROME, Jan. 13.—Large numbers of Germans and Austrians left Rome in the last few days and many others are ready to leave at any moment. The exodus is due to advice received from home authorities.

Irish League Elects Redmond

DUBLIN, Jan. 13.—John Redmond has been re-elected president of the United Irish League at the annual meeting of the directorate held here. Resolutions were adopted congratulating the Irish nation on the triumphant end of the agitation of the past forty years for a national self-government.

Vienna Reports Wilson Guiding Move for Peace

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Copenhagen says:

"The Neue Freie Presse of Vienna publishes a statement that the Queen of Holland, the Grand Duke of Luxemburg and the President of Switzerland, under the guidance of President Wilson, are working for peace and that all the monarchs of neutral countries have been invited to join in a peace movement."

Every Indication Roumania Will Act in Transylvania

SOFIA, Jan. 13.—Roumania apparently has come to a final decision to take action in Transylvania, Hungary, and the campign is generally expected to begin about tthe middle of February.

It is expected that the Roumanian minister to Bulgaria, now at Bucharest, will return soon bringing definite proposals which will facilitate an understanding between the two countries. The restitution to Bulgaria of the towns of Lobritch and Baltchik and surrounding districts probably will be offered.

Another cause for hesitation by Roumania was the uncertainty regarding Italy. Italian occupation of Avlona was universally approved by Roumania, as it will minimize the risks of Roumania's action and really shorten the war.

Recently Roumania manifestations of friendship for Italy are due to the conviction that Italy is preparing to act with the entente powers.

Alarmed by English Warship Practice

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 13.—A British battleship at target practice with her searchlights in operation, caused intense excitement among the inhabitants of Sambro Prospect and other Western shore towns early today. The roar of heavy artillery was heard some miles out, and until the true source of the firing became known the villagers believed a naval battle was proceeding. The force of some of the explosions were so great that many windows were shattered.

Deny Death of Grand Duke in War

PETROGRAD, Jan. 13.—The report of the death of Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, brother-in-law of Emperor Nicholas, while fighting in Persia, is officially denied here.

RUSSIANS PUSH ON TOWARD CRACOW

By FREDERICK RENNET.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 13.—The Russian army on the South Polish frontier has again assumed the offensive toward Cracow, the gateway to Silesia. It is working westward on the Nida River and steadily pressing General Dankl's forces backward along the road to Czenstochowa.

There recent operations have for the first tie brought the Russian second line troops into action with the corresponding class of the German army, and everywhere the Germans have been defeated.

CZAR GAINS IN BUKOWINA.

In Bukowina the Russians are advancing at about a dozen miles a day toward a junction with the Servian army. Large German forces are assembling inside the Austrian zone. They are intended for new formations in the Carpathians, preparatory to a fourth attempt to save Western Galicia, using all the men Austria and Germany can spare.

When Russians took the barbed wire positions near the Rawka River the other day, they found a great stretch of canvas spread on wire and painted with proposals that the Russians become their friends. Also a declaration that is was useless to resist further against the Germans who are treating the Russian prisoners with brotherly kindness and giving them work to enable them to earn much money.

The proclamation offered the Russian soldiers seven roubles for each rifle. It told them when they came next to the German position to hold hold up their hands and they would be received as friends.

GERMANS BREAK ICE.

On the Russian Christmas two or three Germans came unarmed with boxes of cigars and parcels to the Russian trenches. The parcels were found to contain brotherly effusions to the effect that the war was due to a terrible misunderstanding and that the Germans will fight to the end with their western enemies, but that the Poles and Russians are their friends.

The Germans are keeping the Mazurian Lakes open with ice breakers to block the Russian advance in East Prussia, where the Russian troops hold positions around the lakes and have been waiting for the lakes to freeze over before resuming their offensive.

ASKS NEW LAW ON SIZE OF LOAVES

William E. Dunn, sealer of weights and measures for the city of Malden, said today that the Malden public is paying $250 a day for bread that it doesn't get because bakers cut down the size of loaves. He thinks that the statute should be changed to permit bread to be sold only in full or half-loaves, instead of four weights as at present. Mr. Dunn said:

"Let bread be sold in two forms only—a full loaf and a half loaf. Then we can prevent the bakers from cutting down the size of the loaf.

"When the law permits bread to be sold in four forms it leaves so big a leeway that we must take what we can get and be thankful for it.

"Nobody asks for a three-quarters loaf or a one-quarter loaf when they buy bread. They ask for a ten-cent loaf or a five-cent loaf or a large loaf or a small loaf and they pay their dime or nickel. Somewhere in the store the bakers are covering the law by hanging a sign saying that three-quarters or one-quarter loaves are sold.

"The public is paying for several ounces of bread which it does not get every time a loaf of bread is sold. And it costs Malden just $250 a day for bread it doesn't get."

MARY V. BURNS, the girl burglar sentenced today to prison.

GIRL BURGLAR IS SENT TO PRISON

Mary V. Burns, the eighteen-year-old girl burglar, was today sentenced by Judge Lucs in the Waltham Court to the prison for women at Sherborn for an indefinite period.

Miss Burns pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Kane, n. 44 Washington avenue, Waltham, and stealing $65 in cash and a gold watch.

Harry T. Wilkinson, twenty-one, of No. 15 Thorndike street, Roxbury, Mary's alleged sweetheart, who was jointly accused, was discharged. There was no evidence to show that he had anything to do with the burglary which the girl admitted.

Miss Burns was arrested at No. 31 Worcester square, South End. The police also had a warrant charging her with stealing clothing from her sister. She worked as domestic and the police claim she has made a specialty of hiring out to get the lay of valuables. She suddenly left the employ of the Kane's in Waltham, returned during their absence and with false keys raided the apartments.

Arrested for Calling Girl 'Movies Queen'

George Kelley shouted "There goes a Queen of the Movies" when Miss Ida Connors passed him on the street in South Boston, and then said other things less complimentary. She complained to the police and Kelly was arrested and arraigned in the South Boston Court today. After Miss Connors had told how Kelly annoyed her Judge Logan found him guilty, but placed him on probation until April 27.

Flames Cause $8,000 Damage in Chelsea

A damage of $8,000 was caused by a fire in the three-story wooden building at Nos. 25 and 27 Broadway, Chelsea. The building is owned by the Metropolitan Coal Company and occupied by the Beacon Knitting Company as a factory and warerooms. Mrs. Dora Cohen of No. 94 Chestnut street, Chelsea, is the owner of the business. The blaze originated on the first floor and worked its way through the building.

MAYOR MOVES TO CLEAN UP FENWAY

Mayor Curley has taken action in regard to the "masher" peril to girl students in the Fenway. He has asked President Eben D. Jordan of the New England Conservatory of Music and President Henry Lefavour of Simmons College to confer with him today on what can be done to provide adequate police protection in that district.

Simmons College is in the Fenway and the dormitories of the Conservatory of Music are on Hemenway street, which borders it. Girls from all over the country attend these institutions and leading educators of Boston fear for the effect upon the reputation of this city in every section of the United States when it is learned that young women who come here to study are annoyed by persons who lurk in ambush almost at college doors.

Mayor Curley thinks that if parents learn that the police here cannot clear the Fenway of mashers they will not send their daughters to Boston for an education.

Mayor Curley thinks a consultation with heads of colleges may suggest some plan of increasing police protection. As Mayor he has no control over the police. The Police Commissioner is appointed by the Governor.

No statement has been made to the public from Police Headquarters concerning the letter of complaint sent by a woman to Governor Walsh and transmitted to Police Commissioner O'Meara.

All students at Simmons College have been notified by President Lefavour that they must leave the building by 4:30 in the afternoon at the latest in order to pass through the Fenway before dark.

DEATH ON LAND AND SEA AS 85-MILE NORTHEASTER RAGES

washed away a mile of the New Haven railroad track. The track has been raised five feet since then and today's tide rose level with the rails at 7 o'clock.

The first the Sandwich people knew was when the wind-driven surf washed out the regular channel and came sweeping into the little harbor. The harbor waters boiled. Fishing craft were tossed up on shore and fishermen's shanties on the waterfront were washed from their light foundations.

RESIDENTS MOVE OUT.

Residents in the lower part of the town began moving out furniture as the water poured over the wharf edges.

It was feared lest the railroad tracks be washed away. A half mile stretch of tracks were in danger.

The entire Cape Cod shore was harassed by the blizzard. A gasoline supply boat and sloop were blown on the Provincetown breakwater. Lifesavers started to the rescue of the crews.

Greater Boston saw plenty of storm damage. A lighter was blown ashore at Revere Beach, opposite the State bath-house.

The tide was the highest since the Christmas tide of five years ago, when water flowed across Atlantic avenue and over the sill of the State street tunnel station.

TIDE OVER 14 FEET.

The harbor tide was estimated to be three feet higher than normal by one of the Atlantic avenue wharf men who has kept tide records for years.

The tide was scheduled today to be ten feet four inches high, but the measurement taken by the unofficial observer was fourteen feet four inches.

It needed no measurements to let the shipping world know the tide was tremendous. Nearly all Atlantic avenue wharves were submerged. Long, T and Commercial wharves suffered the worst baptisms, in the order named. On Long Wharf the water was up to the hubs of wagon wheels. It flowed over store sills and damaged basement and first-floor goods.

The tide was not only excessively high, but it remained high for longer than the due period, apparently held up by the tremendous drive of the northeast wind. The regular high tide hour was 8:58, but it was long after 9 o'clock before the maximum water began to recede.

HIGH WIND IN BOSTON.

The Boston Weather Bureau reported a maximum wind velocity of forty miles an hour. The bureau's anemometer is on top of the Boston central postoffice.

Reports from more exposed places had this record badly beaten. Cape Cod reported a 75-mile wind. So did the Chamber of Commerce's observer at Hull. But the Highland Light man sent in report that the wind rose to 85-mile speed in the night, diminishing to 59 miles by 8 a. m.

In this terrific burst shipping took no more chances than it was forced to. At that, reports kept coming in of vessels ashore or in peril.

A large number of scheduled sailings were delayed. The steamer City of Gloucester remained in Gloucester harbor over night, omitting her night run to Boston.

COLLIERS PUT BACK.

The steam colliers Everett and Transportation started for Baltimore from Boston yesterday, but put back and were disclosed at daybreak riding at anchor in the lower harbor. The steamer Camden, for Bangor, and Calvin Austin, for Portland, both of the Eastern Steamship Corporation, remained in this port all night instead of attempting their regular trips.

The Metropolitan line steamer Herman Winter held up its start for New York. The Norwegian liner Sygna delayed its sailing to Sydney, Cape Breton. The steamer Grecian of the M. & M. line, en route from Philadelphia to Boston, was reported early today riding out the blizzard off Bass River, Cape Cod. The M. & M. liners Tuscan for Philadelphia and Ontario for Norfolk, Va., remained in this port.

WINTHROP LASHED.

Winthrop was lashed by the blizzard. The high tide rose over the high sea wall of the Crest and swept through the cross streets leading to the "Narrow Gauge" railroad. At the same time the waters in the harbor basin rose to meet the inrush from the ocean side. The railroad track was inundated at Winthrop Beach station and the low flats at Pleasant street section were flooded. Train service was delayed a half hour at the maximum height of the water.

For the second time this season the construction railroad line which runs along Winthrop beach from Neptune avenue around to Fort Heath, was torn up. This line is used to haul building materials for a new sea-wall. Sleepers were washed up and the rolling stock of an engine and a few cars was moved about.

Winthrop cellars were flooded. Furnace fires were extinguished.

Along the cross streets leading down from the Crest the tide water was so deep that rowboats were put in commission to transport passengers to the railroad station. Men, protected by hip-length rubber boots, carried women in their arms through the water.

The surf, pounding with terrific force against the Crest wall, rose in spray to a height thirty feet above the top of the wall.

Winthrop commuters arriving at the harbor end of their trips to Boston found the tide so high that they nearly bumped their heads on the roofs of the ferry slips when they came across the gangplank.

The Fort Point channel water was nearly up to the bottom of the Northern avenue bridge.

There was a heavy rain-fall before the snow came. The total precipitation of this storm, up to 9 a. m., was 2.24 inches, an unusual amount for the length of the storm.

LIGHTER ASHORE.

A lighter, laden with a big pile driver, which was anchored off Peddock's Island in Boston Harbor, was ripped from its moorings by the heavy seas and was carried two miles down Weymouth Fore River until it was washed ashore on Paul Brown's back yard at King Cove, North Weymouth.

The storm by blocking the work of the Nahant fire department caused the destruction of the Grandview Hotel on Little Nahant road when fire started today in the lower floor of the structure. The firemen were unable to reach the hotel because surf was breaking across the road. There was no one in the building, so the cause of the fire is a mystery. The loss is estimated at $7,000.

Trolley and telephone communication was cut off at Nahant. The sea wall was badly damaged.

A gasolene supply boat and a sloop went ashore on Provincetown breakwater in the night. Their perilous position was made out by Wood End Life Saving Station. Captain George Ticker and his crew started in a lifeboat.

The life-savers estimated that there were six men on each vessel. Their position was grave, as the gasolene boat and the sloop each threatened to pound to pieces between the terrific surf and the breakwater.

TELEPHONE LINE DOWN.

The fifty miles of telephone line connecting the United States life-saving stations along Cape Cod, from Provincetown to Chatham, went out of commission in the night, the line breaking down at some point not yet known. On this account it was impossible to get details of the blizzard from the Cape stations.

The steamer Northland, bound from New York to Portland, was off Woods Hole at early morning, sending in frantic wireless signals for some report as to the prospect of clearing weather.

The Northland wished to make the run around Cape Cod, but the seventy-mile blizzard showed no signs of abating. The vessel reported a howling fury of wind and snow off Woods Hole shore.

REVENUE CUTTER READY.

The revenue cutter Acushnet, which was at Woods Hole, with steam up, waiting for any reports of vessels in distress, picked up the Northland's queries, but was unable to give the Northland's skipper any satisfactory prophecy as to what the blizzard would do.

The Acushnet, up to 9 o'clock, had received no calls for aid, but on account of the crippling of the Cape Cod life-saving telephone service, it was feared that the lack of distress calls might be due to the telephone being out of commission.

The blizzard was raising havoc at 9 o'clock with Cape Cod wires and transportation lines. Trains and trolleys were delayed.

The tide was tremendously high at Revere Beach, as well as all along the North and South shores.

The blizzard came from the North Carolina coast, as the weather man predicted yesterday that it would, but when it arrived off the New England coast it veered around in a widening circle, blowing mainly from the northeast and kicking up a terrific tide.

A new moon is due on the fifteenth and the approaching lunar change doubtless added to the tidal outburst.

At Revere the tide smashed against the breakwater in front of the bath-house.

At Squantum the tide swept across the Atlantic boulevard for the first time in four years. Trolleys ran through a foot of water.

At Nantasket Beach the tide came up under the Nantasket Hotel. The gale blew down the new supports of the merry-go-round opposite the Nantasket Hotel on the boulevard.

At Green Hill, Nantasket, the roadway was three efet under water. Many motor boats were washed up on shore and let stranded in streets, including those of Daniel McLeod and Webster Mitchell. Piazzas on the cottages of John M. Minton, chairman of the Boston Board of Election Commissioners, and of Henry Barker were damaged. A number of all-the-year-round cottagers left their homes, fearing the rising waters. Many took refuge in the Gun Rock House.

A section of the New Haven Railroad's electric branch along Hull and Nantasket beaches was washed out between Hull and Pemberton.

A year ago today a record cold spell commenced. By tomorrow it is expected the mercury will try to hide again.

SOME FACTS ABOUT TODAY'S BLIZZARD

Wind—Blew 85 miles an hour from the northeast.

Tide—Was high at 9 this morning; will be high at 9:30 tonight. Tide was 14 feet, 4 inches, one of the highest in many years.

Rain and snow—2:24 inches up to 9 a. m.

NEW YORK IS HARD HIT BY THE STORM

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Unabated, the sleet-laden gale today continued its havoc in New York city, its suburbs and the adjacent coasts, causing the death of two persons, wreaking havoc with property, delaying every transportation line that runs into the city and lashing the waters along the coast to such fury that such towns as Seabright and Highland suffered material property loss.

At Seabright it is said that many cottages would have been undermined had not the wind about 5 o'clock this morning suddenly veered sharply around to the west and driving the piled up waters off shore.

The blowing out of five of the Interborough's six cables under the Manhattan Bridge early today tied up the Second and Third avenue elevated lines below Thirty-fourth street, stalling nearly a dozen trains between stations. Hundreds of passengers were forced to walk through the storm over the sleet-covered elevated structure.

All over town pedestrians were menaced by constantly falling signs that were ripped from their moorings by the wind that lashed along at fifty-four miles an hour. The pitiless wind drove thousands into the various lodging houses all over town.

Of ten ships due in Quarantine this morning but one was in sight, and it is presumed they are ploughing through mountainous seas outside. At 7 o'clock the lower end of Governor's Island was gradually being inundated, while the water at the Battery was but two feet from the top of the breakwater wall.

All roads reported trains from fifteen to thirty minutes late. The north-bound track of the New York Central was put out of commission for several hours when rain caused a short circuit at One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street and Park avenue. The fire which followed was quickly extinguished and an emergency crew succeeded in opening the track for traffic.

The most serious accident due to the storm was when a passenger train bound from Washington for New York on the Pennsylvania Railroad crashed into the roof of a freight car blown off a passing train near the Susquehanna River at Perryville, Md. The engine was overturned and two express cars demolished. Engineer James F. Murphy was killed and Fireman Charles C. Sayre fatally hurt. The passengers escaped.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.—Advertisement.

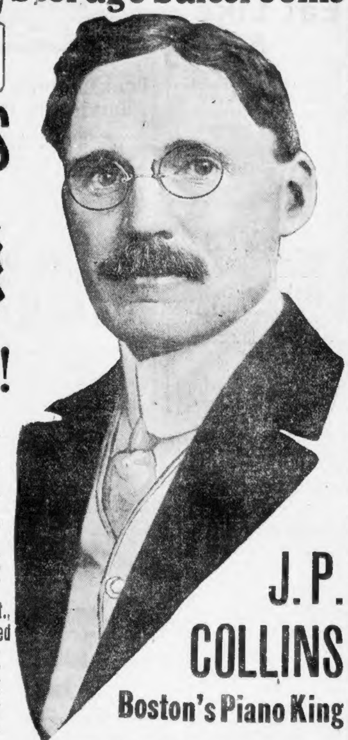
Stock of the Piano Manufacturers' Outlet Co., of 100 Boylston St., Sent to the Roxbury Piano Storage Salesrooms to Be Slaughtered

People are buying Pianos at this sale for prices so low that it seems a shame to quote them. However, times are hard and to sell pianos I find that I must make the prices lower than ever before. This I am doing, with the result that people from all over New England are coming to this wonderful sale. Beautiful New Pianos are being rapidly sold for prices that more than please the purchaser and at terms to suit their convenience.



J. P. COLLINS
Boston's Piano King
Crowned King of Low Prices and Big Sales

Down With the Trusts

That has been my battle cry in my fight in the piano business. No one can accuse me of ever being connected with any piano combination to keep up the price of pianos. I have always done all in my power to cut down piano prices to the lowest notch. At every one of my piano sales I cut, slash and slaughter the prices on every make piano on the sacrifice floor. Remember: When you decide to buy a piano, no matter what make, don't buy from any one until you see me and get my price. Remember, no matter what make. J. P. COLLINS.

'DON'T WED AGED,' SAYS MRS. ALSOP

Mrs. Effie Pope Hill Alsop, who has filed suit for separation from her eighty-year-old husband, Edward Brown Alsop, as the culmination of the estrangement which commenced last Summer in Beverly, declared today she was "tired of being an old man's darling and a hot-house flower."

Mrs. Alsop is but twenty-two. She was married to the retired steel magnate three years ago. Then she called her aged husband her "rag-time kid" and said his money made no difference, that she loved him for himself, and would be satisfied "as long as he keeps me in squabs and raspberries."

"Any girl that wishes to can be an old man's darling," she said today. "Not any more for me. If ever I am free to wed again, it will be to a young man who will appreciate a helpmeet, and not merely a flower to wear.

"Most men over sixty I know want to put a woman in a glass case and keep her only for his own selfish companionship.

WALSH TELLS WHY HALL WAS FREED

Governor Walsh in a special message to the senate states that failing health, the impending necessity for an operation and the fact that the further detention of the prisoner would serve no other purpose than forever to unfit him to again occupy a position through which he might support his wife and family were the reasons why John A. Hall, former treasurer of the Southbridge Savings Bank, was pardoned.

The number of students enrolled in all departments at Harvard University is 5,699, the largest number yet recorded, the official catalogue announced.

MAINE COUPLE WIN RACE WITH DEATH

A race against death by sleigh from Limerick to Kennebunkport, Me., thence by train to Melrose, was won by less than an hour by the parents of Samuel Lord, nineteen, who wished to see their boy before he died in the Melrose Hospital.

The young man, victim of a blow on the head from a piece of wood, hurled at him during the strike at the Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Rattan Company plant, where he went to work as a strike-breaker, was just able to recognize his parents and murmur a word of comfort to them before he died.

Since he was struck down in the course of the strike, while he was driving a team for the company, young Lord had been nursed by his landlady till a few days ago he became completely paralyzed.

Mrs. John Wood, Who Played Here, Dies

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Mrs. John Wood, the actress, is dead at Birchington, Kent. She was born in Liverpool in 1833. Mrs. Wood made her first appearance on the stage at Brighton in 1841 and continued before the public until a few years ago. She made her first American appearance in Boston in 1854.

Quincy to Build Big Submarine for U. S.

A contract has been awarded by the Navy Department to the Electric Boat Company for one seagoing submarine to be built at the Fore River yard, Quincy. The new submarine, of 1,000 tons displacement, will be twice as large as any submarine in a foreign navy.

TWO KILLED IN PORTLAND FIRE

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 12.—Two men lost their lives and forty persons were driven out in a panic into a sleet storm early today when fire swept a four-story tenement house at the corner of Fore and Center streets.

The dead are Joseph Glennon and his brother, Martin, both single.

Six families occupied the house, which is located at what is known as Gorham's Corner. The fire started in the kitchen of a tenement on the third floor and spread rapidly.

Firemen and policemen rushed into the burning structure to arouse the sleeping inmates. Many children were taken down ladders and a number of women, who had become confused in the dense smoke, were led down the stairways.

The Glennon brothers were forgotten in the rush of the occupants to escape.

WHALE RUNS OFF WITH OCEAN BUOY

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 12.—Roaring Bull buoy, which showed the way to mariners rounding Pease's Island, near Lubec, and its anchor stone, weighing together 4,000 pounds, have been carried away by a whale. The whale which was fifty feet long dragged the buoy and anchor until it died from exhaustion.

Eat Like A Boy

Let Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Assist Your Stomach Whenever It Needs Help. They Are Safe and Sure.

A Trial Package Free to All.

If you really want to digest a meal, take a Stuart Dyspepsia Tablet after eating it.

If you really want your old-time boy appetite to return to you once more, form the practice of eating a Stuart Dyspepsia Tablet after each meal. Results will astound you.

"Good Old Mince Pie Like Mother Used to Make."

The reason a Stuart Dyspepsia Tablet is powerful enough to digest your next meal is because it is composed of those things which a weakened digestive system lacks.

One ingredient of these tablets digests 3,000 times its bulk in food. Think what a great assistance this kind of co-operation on your part is to the worn-out nerves and juices of your stomach and intestines.

You cannot understand how the body really and gleefully O. K.'s such help until after you see that the ordinary distress after eating no longer bothers you.

If all the stomach sufferers who have been relieved of their misery and restored to health by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets could be gathered together into one column, they would make a larger body of men, women and children than were ever gathered together on this globe.

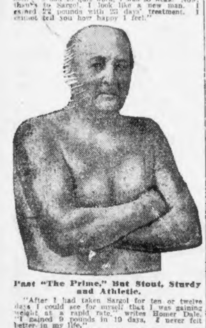
This fact is a fact because no town is so small that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not to be found in its drug store. Wherever you may go, there you will find in every drug store Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, price 50c per box.

A small trial sample package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will be mailed free to anyone addressing F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

67 Years of Age Gains 22 Pounds in 23 Days

Remarkable Experience of F. Gagnon. Builds Up Weight Wonderfully.

"I am a man of 67 years of age and was all run down to the very bottom," writes F. Gagnon. "I had to quit work, I was so weak. Now, thanks to Sargol, I look like a new man. I gained 22 pounds with 23 days' treatment. I cannot tell you how happy I feel."



Past "The Prime," But Stout, Sturdy and Athletic.

"After I had taken Sargol for ten or twelve days I could see for myself that I was gaining weight at a rapid rate," writes Homer Dale. "I gained 9 pounds in 19 days. I never felt better in my life."

"Your Sargol has done wonders for me," states John Cejka. "I have gained twenty-one pounds and look and feel like a new person."

Would you, too, like to quickly put from 10 to 30 pounds of good, solid "stay-there" flesh, fat and muscular tissue between your skin and bones?

Don't say it can't be done. Try it. Let us send you free a 50c package of Sargol and prove what it can do for you.

More than half a million thin men and women have gladly made this test and that Sargol does succeed, does make thin folks fat, even where all else has failed, is best proved by the tremendous business we have done. No drastic diet, flesh creams, massage, oils or emulsions, but a simple, harmless home treatment. Cut out the coupon and send for this Free package today, enclosing only 10 cents in silver to help pay postage, packing, etc.

Address The Sargol Co., 43-A Herald Bldg., Binghamton, N. Y. Take Sargol with your meals and watch it work. This test will tell the story.

Brookline Girl Is Hurt in Auto Crash

Miss Rosamond Batchelder, nineteen, of No. 80 Seaver street, Brookline, was cut and bruised in a collision between an automobile in which she was riding and a Chase Express Company wagon at Washington and Boylston streets, Brookline. The chauffeur, M. Joseph Finn of No. 55 Mountfort street, Back Bay, was also cut by flying glass.

'HAPPINESS' IN NEW HOMAN PLEA

The Hogans folk, who challenged fame
By seeking "Homan" for a name,
Now plead excuse, in their distress,
They're "in pursuit of happiness."

The well-known Declaration of Independence is cited by counsel for Edward J. Hogan and family in a renewed effort to get court consent to change the family name to "Homan."

The framers of the D. of I. held as self-evident the truths that among man's inalienable rights are "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

If that was good enough for the Declaration of Independence, it is good enough for the Hogans. By which token the five Hogans in this celebrated case now petition the court for this change of name. The Hogans say they stand on their constitutional rights and ask the court to consider "the pursuit of happiness" as an additional reason for their desiring the change.

This is the third Hogan petition. First they asked to be permitted to take the name "Homans." Robert Homans of the Back Bay objected. Then the Hogans said that "Homan," without the "S" would do. But the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities objected.

But now S. A. G. Cox, the Hogan lawyer, asks the Probate Court for the name of "Homan" for his five clients on the "happiness" ground.

Original Brockton T. R. Man Quits Party

BROCKTON, Jan. 13.—Dr. Charles G. Miles, who claims to be the original "Roosevelt man" in Brockton, an ex-chairman of the Progressive City Committee, announces he has left the Progressive party for the reason that he believes Progressive principles can best be worked out through the Republican party.

To Grow Hair on A Bald Head

BY A SPECIALIST

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair-tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless: the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.

Old Time Cold Cure—Drink Tea

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

What's Wrong With the Men?

Beatrice Fairfax Thinks There Is a Good Deal for Them to Do

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A FEW days ago we considered the cardinal feminine weaknesses: hypocrisy, prevarication, unreliability and general pettiness, coupled with too great a tendency to expect life to yield things merely because one is a woman.

A correspondent writes to ask if I have a grudge against my own sex, and also if I see no faults in the "Lords of Creation." Indeed I see plenty of faults in men. But masculine faults, like masculine virtues, are big, constructive things that must be reached in the individual and that cannot be blotted out in the sex.

Men are seldom petty—the men who are not manly, and so cannot be treated in any general view of their sex. Men have broader horizons and larger and more impersonal vision than those of which women, as a sex, are capable. Consequently their faults are not weaknesses which may easily be conquered by taking thought, but are actual big failings which must be worked at to be uprooted.

Women accuse men of selfishness, self-centredness and actual cruelty, and women see these failings in men somewhat because of their own pettiness.

The one great fault in masculine human nature is its calm air of superiority. An old prayer says, "Lord, I thank Thee that Thou has not made me a woman." Modern man does not voice this prayer, but he thinks and feels it and his whole attitude breathes it. Out of this attitude rises the unfairness man shows in his dealings with woman and all his slowness to aid her in her efforts to rise in the scheme of things. With his vices we are not dealing.

Being a man has always proved such a comfortable affair that man placidly sits back in selfish enjoyment of his privileges, and doesn't offer woman a helping hand as she rises above his old-time Oriental despotisms.

Out of this air of superiority comes the calmness with which man accepts his own moral shortcomings and quite takes it for granted that he may be "a devil of a fellow," while the women of his own world must be spotless angels, with no one to admire the set of their halos! Thence, too, comes his sneering attitude toward women of the half-world and the under-world. If he has chivalrous impulses toward them, if he thinks of them as human beings who have slipped out of the path on which their feet were set, he conquers these feelings because of the masculine superiority which permits his double standard.

Men are too easy with themselves, too tolerant of their own failings, too willing to excuse selfishness, thoughtlessness and even unkindness on their own parts. They do not give fairly enough of their own personalities, they do not yield easily enough to the demands of other personalities. They are not sufficiently chivalrous in their attitude toward womanhood. But all of this is directly traceable to the masculine air of superiority that expresses itself in the old prayer, "Lord, I thank Thee that Thou hast not made me a woman."

The business absorption, the over-ambition, the lowered standard of righteousness and honor of which men are guilty today, are all directly traceable to this fountain-head of evil.

What's the matter with the men? The matter is that they think there is nothing at all the matter.

Cute—Rather

The smuggling of precious stones into New York is perhaps one of the liveliest of "live" industries in spite of all the efforts of the authorities to stop it. Some of the tricks employed seem to touch the limit of human ingenuity. Perhaps the cleverest trick in this line—cleverest because the simplest—stands to the credit of a Chicago man.

He would buy $100,000 worth of diamonds in London or Amsterdam and hide them behind a panel of the wall of his cabin. On the ship's arrival at New York he would walk calmly ashore, leaving the stones behind him in their hiding place, but going straight to the booking office and engaging the same cabin for the return voyage. When the time came for the vessel to sail he went on board accompanied by his wife. The lady must, of course, go to inspect her husband's cabin, and when at length the bell rang and the lady walked ashore with the rest of the visitors her pockets were heavier by the weight of the diamonds.

Old Laces and Hand Embroideries Loved by Girl of Today

Hazel Dawn, Beautiful Stage Star, Says Treasures of Grandmother's Cedar Chest Are Now Used in All Sorts of Charming Ways

Three attractive poses of charming Hazel Dawn.

NO longer are old laces and hand embroideries stored away with lavender in grandmother's cedar chest, according to Hazel Dawn, the beautiful star of "The Debutante," which comes to the Colonial Theatre next Monday night. She says that she has discovered that the practical woman of today thinks that romanticism in cedar chests doesn't pay and she is digging up such treasured bits of finery and using them in all sorts of charming ways for her own immediate benefit. Miss Dawn is a lover of old laces and is well versed in the art of lace-making.

"A real lace and sheer embroidery handkerchief that was perhaps a part of a trousseau will make a pretty collar and when applied to sheer linen, a set of smart turnback cuffs," she says. "Or the entire wide border of a handkerchief can be used for a rolling collar. The material may have to be cut a bit to be shaped, but clever stitching can do wonders. Exquisite boudoir caps can be evolved with the help of flowers and knots of ribbon from old lace handkerchiefs.

"Larger lace collars and berthas are being used on blouses of net and sheer linen or batiste. Now that blouses open in front it is quite possible to use some handsome old piece of lace without cutting it, as the rolling collar can continue down the front or it can be used to form a sort of waistcoat popular equally on thin gowns and blouses. A charming little handkerchief I noticed recently had a bertha used this way. The embroidery was arranged under a dark blue satin girdle and shaped below in a pointed vest upon which blue wash buttons were used."

Although Miss Dawn has been on the stage only for a few years, she has always made a particular study of her wardrobe and is noted among her fellow-artists for the detail with which she always dresses her parts.

"There is nothing prettier in a woman's attire," she says, "than to have her 'Trilbys' encased in a pretty pair of high-heeled shoes. I do not believe in shoes where the feet are cramped, but a nice comfortable shape with high heels adds grace and beauty to any woman's appearance.

"Low-heeled shoes," says Miss Dawn, "make a woman look clumsy and awkward. I have studied the many styles for years, but none could satisfy my fancy, so I went to a designer and had them made to my special design. When I told him what I wanted he gazed at me as though he thought I was crazy, but let me tell you there is ease in them, as well as grace and comfort. Discerning folks really pay a great deal of attention to shoes, therefore one must be very careful about selecting one's footwear."

Bonnie Mortimer Decides Definitely to Take Up Dancing as a Profession

By ANN LISLE

"I SIMPLY can't learn this awful stuff. There's no rhyme or reason to why a thin line should be a T and a fat one a D or to any of their old combinations of foolishness. Oh, Judy, I wish I'd never started stenography. Judy, Tommy Burke says that Lucy Endicott gets $1,200 a week up at the Royal. I wonder if I couldn't learn dancing."

Judith Mortimer came over to the table where her sister was laboring amidst a snowstorm whirl of crumpled papers. "Fifty dollars has gone out of our little bank balance already, Bonnie, dear. Don't you think you'd better stick to stenography?"

"No, I don't, Judy," returned Bonnie, petulantly. "I've concluded that before I was good enough to be Jimmie Compton-Blake's secretary and to get into society by a marriage with my employer he'd probably be married and divorced a la that high society about twice over. I think dancing is a much quicker way for me to get ahead in the world."

The next morning Miss Bonnibelle Mortimer withdrew from the Grayson Shorthand School and entered for a course of instruction at the Le Claire Dancing Academy. She had a natural aptitude for arranging her feet in the intricate patterns of the new dances, and a flower-like grace that swayed to music with fairy daintiness.

Her first lesson found Mr. Le Claire very enthusiastic over her ability, and instead of leaving her to instructors he himself put the finishing touches to a graceful little one-step she had mastered within the hour. At the end of a week she was the star pupil of the Le Claire Academy, and in a month she was advanced to the position of instructor, at the princely salary of $8 a week and tips. Bonnie resolved that she would accept no tips and that her pupils should single her out as a very superior young person. The Le Claire Academy was exclusive and though the Jimmy Compton-Blakes of New York did not come there for instruction, one of Tommy Burke's Riverside Drive cousins was in the role of pupil.

Bonnie fashioned herself a simple little black charmeuse gown that was quite different from the giddy stripes and colorings affected by the other teachers. Soft white collars and cuffs and the cameo pin her sister, Judith, had given her for Christmas, added a look of breeding to her delicate beauty.

When she had been acting as instructor for a few weeks without any noticeable advance in her list of social-register acquaintances, she discovered that Reginald Burke always came for his lessons at about half-past four in the afternoon. She managed to be in the office one day when he came in to have his ticket marked for a lesson, and, quite as she had expected, he asked the secretary of the school if he couldn't have a change of instructors so that he wouldn't get too accustomed to one style of dancing. Miss Mortimer smiled and dimpled approvingly, and a few moments later she was teaching the latest grapevine to Reginald Burke, of Riverside Drive.

How wonderfully you get the rhythm of the steps, Mr. Burke," said she. "You're easily the star pupil of the place. I wonder you come to a dancing academy at all. Don't you think this is just a little—ordinary?"

"Well, it's at least very extraordinary good luck to have you show me the steps, Miss Mortimer. How do you come to be here?"

Bonnie indicated a reverse dip by means of a little pressure on Reginald Burke's right shoulder. Her finger tips managed to convey not only "swing to the left," but also a pensive suggestion of the little impromptu tale she was about to tell.

"Oh, my sister and I are orphans, and after we'd used up all of our little nest-egg, but a few hundred dollars, I just had to find something to do. And as I have never been trained for anything and love dancing, this was perfectly natural."

"Have you ever thought about the stage or one of the restaurants? They pay awfully well."

"But do nice girls dance in cabarets? Just a minute, Mr. Burke; you hold that measure on your left foot, then swing back on to the right and hold two counts—see, like this."

And Bonnie glided away, light as thistledown. Then she came back to her partner's ready arms, and they swung on till the record played itself out.

"Say, you wouldn't come up to the Hyperion with me for tea this afternoon, and try out a few steps there, would you, Miss Mortimer? We'd call that a private lesson and I'd fix it with Mr. Le Claire."

Bonnie surveyed Reginald Burke with an expression in which pained surprise and girlish excitement were judiciously mingled.

REGINALD SUGGESTS A DANCE AT THE HYPERION

"Would you take me to the Hyperion, really, Mr. Burke? I'd perfectly love to go, but of course it's understood that you make your arrangements with Mr. Le Claire and that I am just a guest who has the fun of the dancing."

"I wouldn't insult you by any other arrangement," said Reginald Burke gravely. "Shall I call for you here or at your own home?"

"Here, please," said Bonnie, "you see I have to go on giving lessons up to the last minute, and then I'll have to come back for an hour or so to make up for the time I spend with you."

"Oh, you'll get all tired out then. I'll fix it with Le Claire, so you won't have to come back."

But Bonnie had no intention that Reginald Burke should behold the shabby boarding-house which housed her; nor did she intend that Reginald and Tommy Burke should discover that they were both friends of the little girl who felt that the Riverside Drive cousin was her first step into the world where really exclusive people like the Compton-Blakes lived.

"I'll be here at exactly five," said Reginald Burke, "and we'll have two glorious hours."

He pressed her hand with a sentimental lingering of his finger tips. Bonnie cast down her eyes till the dark fringe of her eyelashes was outlined against her soft pink cheeks. She was sure that was a coyly modest pose. But only the night before when Tommy Burke had ventured a somewhat similar expression of affection she had cried in shocked indignation: "Oh, Tommy; holding hands is so vulgar."

Bonnie was not quite sure what Judith would say when told that her little sister had gone with Reginald Burke to have tea at the Hyperion. But whatever Judy said, the thing would be an accomplished fact by the time she said it.

THE FORTUNES OF FANNY

Fanny Is Asked to Take the Pet Dog Out for a Stroll in Broad Daylight

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER XL.

Copyright, 1914, by Star Company.

DURING the month in which Fanny Hedden remained in her new position she learned much about the work of a waitress. She also did a little cooking, as, when the other maid had her afternoon and evening "out," it was the duty of the "second girl" to prepare dinner and to wait on the table as well. Yet, while Fanny did her best, she felt that she could not long endure certain conditions inseparable from her present situation.

One of the minor things that vexed her was that she was compelled to take the small dog—Mrs. Irwin's pet—for a walk. Wearing her white apron over her house dress, yet with her hat and coat on, the girl must walk up and down the street, holding a leash at the end of which a restless dog pulled and strained. The animal had to have two constitutionals of this sort daily, each one lasting for fifteen minutes.

The policeman at the corner grinned impudently at Fanny as she appeared, her face flushed and her eyes downcast, pulled hither and thither by the whims and impulses of her canine companion. The butcher's boy asked her once or twice whether she was a housemaid or a dogtender. At last the girl summoned courage to protest to the dog's owner.

"I'm sorry to object to anything you wish me to do," she told her employer, "but when you engaged me I did not know that I would have to take the dog out walking."

Mrs. Irwin's sister, who happened to be present at the interview, glanced sympathetically at the speaker, then tried to conceal the gleam of amusement that sprang to her eyes.

But the statement did not appeal to Mrs. Irwin's sense of humor—if she had any. Instead, she looked gravely displeased.

"If I had a child," she queried, "would you object to doing some trifling act for the little creature just because you were not engaged to be a nurse?"

"Oh, no," Fanny responded, "but with a child it would be different. I love children."

HER EMPLOYER TAKES THE PART OF THE DOG

"And you don't love dogs—is that it?" Mrs. Irwin suggested.

"Why, no; that's not it," Fanny tried to explain. "I like dogs well enough in their place, but not to take care of them—that is, it mortifies me to have to take one out on the street on the end of a string."

Miss Irwin started to speak, then bit back her words. Fanny was quite sure that the spinster's sympathies were all with her. The kindly eyes fixed on her made her rather sorry she had spoken so hastily.

"Of course," she added, "if you insist on my doing this, Madam, I will obey your orders. But might I not go out after dark with the dog instead of in the broad daylight?"

"And deny the poor little fellow the sunshine and fresh air to which he has as good a right as you or I," Mrs. Irwin exclaimed. "I cannot have him suffer for a notion of yours. However, I will think the matter over, and see if I can arrange to take him out once a day myself. Then you can take him out at night. Fortunately, I am not too proud to be seen on the street with one of God's poor dumb creatures."

"Well—and what has she been sayin' to you now?" asked Delia, eagerly, when Fanny returned to the kitchen after her talk with Mrs. Irwin. "I know from the color of your face that you and she has had a run-in."

Fanny explained briefly that there had been no "run-in"—only that she had objected to escorting the dog in its promenades. Delia laughed amusedly.

"Well, I don't blame you!" she declared. "You're too easy anyway. And for goodness sake why will you be after callin' her 'Madam' all the time? 'Ma'am' is good enough for any lady to be called. Say 'Yes, ma'am' and 'No, ma'am' and cut out the 'Madam.' It's too demeanin' to my way of thinkin'. We're as good as her, even if we are livin' out girls."

And she went on to express her opinion of mistresses in general. Fanny felt intensely uncomfortable. Was she putting herself in with the class who regard all employers as their natural enemies? The thought assailed her often as the days passed.

For Delia and her many friends all took the same tone. The woman who employed a domestic was a tyrant; the employe "a poor girl." Every mistress would impose upon her maid, Fanny was informed, unless the maid stood up for her rights. Fanny not being accustomed to this kind of doctrine, disliked it. If she was working for anyone, she did not wish to feel that at heart that person was her enemy.

Yet that this was the silent or expressed belief of most "living-out girls" she began to understand. Delia was popular with her own set, and not the least of Fanny's discomforts in her present position was that she must meet Delia's friends and seem to be one with them. Mrs. Irwin's kitchen was in the basement, and she was not in the habit of going there after the evening meal had been served. It was, therefore, at this time that Delia's friends "dropped in" for a chat—often, it must be acknowledged, in time to have "just a taste" of some dainty left over from dinner. Fanny doubted if this proceeding would be considered honest by Mrs. Irwin—yet as she herself was Delia's fellow-employe she had no right to mention to her mistress the happenings below-stairs.

On the occasion when the cook had company, Fanny would wash her dishes as quickly as possible and attempt to slip away to her room. At last Delia spoke out her resentment of this action.

"Anybody'd think that me and my friends wasn't good enough for you," she protested vigorously. "I guess you think you're better'n us—don't you?"

"Indeed, no!" Fanny demurred.

"Well, then, stay down in the kitchen and have good times with the rest of us," Delia urged. "Just because you've had more schoolin' than me, you needn't be so all-fired stuck-up."

With a sinking heart Fanny appreciated that when in Rome one must do as the Romans do, and that if she was in service she must seem to be one with other girls in service.

Do You Know That—

The windiest region of the world of which we have any knowledge appears to be the coast of Wilkes Land, where Dr. Mawson's expedition recently spent two years. Mawson's records at Adelie Land for 1912 showed an average wind velocity throughout the year of about forty-eight miles an hour, while velocities of 100 miles an hour were common.

A snow sampler and weigher for the use of the Swiss Gletscher-Kommission in the Alps has been recently acquired. The sampler is twenty feet long and made in sections of five feet to facilitate being carried to the more inaccessible portions of the mountains.

The Bassano Dam, in Alberta, Canada, one of the greatest irrigation works in the world, has been completed, and 2,000 square miles of hitherto uncultivated land will be converted into fertile soil.

The Philippine Islands produce nearly ten million gallons of alcohol yearly. Almost all of this is made from the sap of the nipa palm that grows in great abundance in various swamps of the country.

The practice of the British army of leaving the colors behind on taking the field dates from the battle of Isandhlwana in 1879, when two officers lost their lives in endeavoring to save the colors of the Twenty-fourth Regiment.

Sea fowls' eggs are almost conical in form, so that they will only roll in a circle. As many of them are laid on the bare ledges of high rocks, this provision of Nature prevents them rolling off.

Resinol

heals itching burning skins

WHAT relief! The first application of Resinol Ointment usually stops all itching and burning and makes your tortured skin feel cool and comfortable at last. Won't you try the easy Resinol way to heal eczema or similar skin eruption? Doctors have prescribed Resinol regularly for twenty years.

Resinol Ointment, with the help of Resinol Soap, clears away pimples and blackheads, and is a most valuable household remedy for sores, burns, chafings, dandruff, piles, etc. Sold by all druggists. Use Resinol Soap for the toilet.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough Will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—heal the inflamed membranes. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phelgm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

INDICT DIRECTORS FOR FATAL WRECK

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Theodore P. Shonts, president, and other officers and directors, including August Belmont and Cornelius Vanderbilt, of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, which operates the subway and elevated lines of New York city, are accused of culpable negligence in a verdict returned by a coroner's jury sitting in the inquest into a wreck on the Sixth avenue elevated line in December. Two men were killed in the accident, a collision which occurred at the line's highest point at 116th street and Eighth avenue.

Coroner Patrick D. Riordan held the accused to await the action of the grand jury, fixing bail of $5,000.

The verdict set forth specific charges dealing with equipment and methods of inspection and of provision of safeguards and extra crew men. One charge read: "Failing to substitute relatively fireproof cars for wooden cars on the elevated railroad."

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast; continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and cause no bad effects whatever.

PEACE MEETING HERE TOMORROW

The first Massachusetts meeting of the woman's peace movement will take place at Tremont Temple tomorrow evening.

The tremendous interest manifested at the recent meeting in Washington has spread throughout the United States, and everywhere the women are coming to the front to help forward this world-wide peace movement. Mr. and Mrs. Petrick Lawrence of London, have set aside for a moment their great life work of gaining votes for women and have thrown themselves into this present need.

Both will speak on "constructive peace."

The platform of the Woman's Peace Party just launched in Washington, with Miss Jane Addams as president, will be read. William Lloyd Garrison will preside. On the platform will be: John Graham Brooks, Professor Jay William Hudson, Rev. Charles F. Dole, Miss Mary G. Cabot, Mrs. Glendower Evans, Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, Mrs. Charles H. Bond, Mrs. Mary Hutchinson Page, Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Mead, Mrs. J. Malcolm Forbes, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence are to be the guests of Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw while in Boston and will be the recipients of much social attention. On Friday a large luncheon will be given them at the Somerset by the women of Boston. Some of those who will be at the luncheon are: Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, Mrs. Anna S. Duryea, Mrs. Glendower Evans, Mrs. R. D. Evans, Miss Eugenia Frothingham, Miss Rose Nichols, Miss Marian Nichols, Mrs. and Miss Appleton, Mrs. Henry Russell, Mrs. Calvin Austin, Mrs. R. G. Shaw, Mrs. L. D Brandeis, Mrs. B. F. Pitman, Mrs. Lewis Johnson, Miss Wambaugh, Mrs. G. W. Benedict, Mrs. William James, Miss James, Miss Rose Dexter, Mrs. Hodder, Miss Baldwin, Miss Stanwood, Mrs. Crothers, Mrs. Paul Frothingham, Mrs. S. O. Martin, Mrs. and Miss Morey, Miss Ellen Mason, Mrs. Max Kellner, Mrs. F. Andrews, Mrs. Page, Mrs. Bird, Miss Childs and Mrs. Lindsley.

General Electric Business Improves

PITTSFIELD, Jan. 13.—General improvement in business is reported at the General Electric plant, according to General Manager C. C. Chesney, who said that a gradual improvement in business both at hand and in prospect is taking place continually and, so far as he can see, will likely continue.

OSBORNE TO TELL WOMEN OF WORK

Thomas Mott Osborne, newly appointed warden of Sing Sing and head of the Prison Reform Commission of New York, is to address the Women's City Club at its January forum meeting on Monday, January 25. His subject will be "Humanizing a Prison." The club has engaged Tremont Temple for this occasion, in order that the entire membership may have the opportunity of hearing Mr. Osborne, who has aroused much interest with his advanced ideas regarding prison government.

Admission will be free to members of the club, who must procure their tickets before January 16. If any remain beyond that date they may be purchased by members for friends. This enables members to take the entire house if they wish, and an arrangement of exchangeable tickets makes it possible for members and friends to have their seats reserved together. Should any tickets remain undisposed of on January 23 they may be purchased by the public.

Mr. Osborne, it is expected, will give something of his experiences while self-incarcerated in Auburn Prison, where he had an opportunity of studying prison life from the inside. Prominent politically as thrice Mayor of Auburn and having had wide experience as newspaper proprietor, manufacturer and author, he will be one of the most notable speakers to appear before the Women's City Club this Winter. He is also interesting to the membership as brother to their president, Mrs. James J. Storrow.

FARMER'S WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

A Weak, Nervous Sufferer Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Kasota, Minn.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Componnd has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do."—Mrs. Clara Franks, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for woman's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

United Irish League Meeting Tomorrow

A meeting of the Boston Central Branch, United Irish League, will be held at the American House tomorrow evening. All the members and their friends are asked to attend. The meeting will be opened at 8 o'clock by Michael J. Jordan, president of the branch, and National Secretary of the league.

State Police Probe Tremont St. Blaze

An investigation was started by the police, today, of a fire of unknown origin which caused a damage of $300 in the tailoring establishments of B. Messer and H. M. Levine at No. 173 Tremont streets. An explosion tore down a partition separating the two shops. A search of the ruins failed to reveal any trace of an explosive.

NEW CITY LODGING HOUSE IS OPPOSED

Mitchell Freeman, superintendent of the West End House, declares objections are made to Mayor Curley's plan to establish a second municipal lodging house in the West End. He writes to Mayor Curley as follows:

"Some of us interested in the West End have noticed with considerable concern your reported proposal to establish a free municipal lodging house in the old Bowdoin street ward room in the West End, where we already have one municipal lodging house.

"I would call your attention that this is the only hall open to the boys of the district for indoor sport in the Winter. It is now being used regularly three nights a week for that purpose.

"Furthermore, beginning five or six years ago the city government appropriated various sums of money to establish a gymnasium and bath house on these premises. [illegible] was appropriated under the late Mayor Hibbard, this amount being raised, through the assistance of Ernest E. Smith and Matthew Hale, to $20,000 and $25,000, and finally to $40,000, and a final set of plans were made and accepted, and our district has every right to expect and demand the establishment, not of a lodging house for a few people, but of a bath house and indoor gymnasium to satisfy the needs of the large size city which the West End really is.

"The West End, with its 32,000 people, is the most congested district in the city, and is today the only district of any size without an indoor gymnasium and bath house."

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. For sale by [illegible] and all good druggists.—Advertisement.

'HIGH-UPS' FIGHT BALLOT CHARGE

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 13.—Most of the so-called "high-ups" accused of a conspiracy to corrupt the election of November 3, 1914, at Terre Haute, will fight the charge.

That there was a conspiracy was admitted by eighty men, who before Judge Anderson in the United States District Court pleaded guilty to an indictment returned by the federal Grand Jury. Eight others of the 114 defendants pleaded not guilty, while demurrers were filed for the remaining twenty-six prisoners, including Mayor Don M. Roberts, Circuit Judge Redman, City Judge Thomas Smith, Sheriff Dennis Shea and other city and county officials of Terre Haute. Argument on the demurrers was set for January 20.

Those who admitted their guilt did so without being promised immunity. They were not sentenced and are expected to testify for the government in the cases to be tried.

Eight of the eighty who pleaded guilty were employes or former employes of the Terre Haute city administration and included J. Edward Holler, within the last week deposed as chief of police; John F. Nugent, former night chief of police; Enos Harms, custodian of City Hall; Robert Lloyd, policeman; Joseph Jeffers, special policeman, and Harry Jeffersbeck and Walter Goordes, City Hall employes.

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS, AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you musn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lies like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it. For sale by Riker-Jaynes and all good druggists.—Advertisement.

CHARGE MUIR IS SEWING SWINDLER

Peter D. Muir is accused by the federal government of swindling poor sewing women out of the proceeds of work done by them to feed themselves and children, and it is intimated that the Grand Jury will soon take up his case. He was to have had a hearing before United States Commissioner Hayes yesterday on the charge of using the mails to defraud, but at the request of the defendant's counsel, William H. Lewis, former Assistant United States District Attorney, the case was continued for a month.

Muir did business from offices in the Jefferson Building on Washington street under the names of the Fenway Specialty Company and the Peter D. Muir Company. He advertised that women could make from $3.50 to $7 a week by making aprons at home.

Complaints regarding Muir's methods reached the federal building, and Postoffice Inspector Hurley investigated. He says that when women who replied to Muir's advertisements sent him money to buy material for aprons he would forward the goods, but that when they returned the finished product he would sell it to stores and keep all he got for it. It is alleged Muir would then write women that their work was unsatisfactory, but invited them to try again.

Inspector Hurley heard some pitiful stories while investigating the case—women who were in want and had spent money for material and sewed industriously in the hope of making a pittance sadly needed for rent, fuel or food, only to reap no return. One woman, whose husband was at home ill, told of saving five cents a day from the allowance she had made to buy milk for her two children, until she had fifty cents. Then she borrowed $3 from a neighbor to buy material and made aprons for Muir without being paid, she charges.

Friends Banquet John M. Morrison

More than a score of friends of John M. Morrison, tendered him a banquet in Young's Hotel in honor of his being made a member of the firm of Sawyer, Hardy & Stone, No. 53 State street. Mr. Morrison has been in this office since being admitted to practice four years ago.

At the age of twenty-five, he holds the distinction of having tried more cases before the Industrial Accident Board, than any lawyer in the State.

Mr. Morrison attended Holy Cross College a year and then entered Boston University Law School from which he graduated in 1910.

Obregon Army Goes on Toward Captial

VERA CRUZ, Jan. 13.—The long expected movement of General Obregon on Mexico City has begun. Constitutionalists and Zepatistas clashed at Ozumba and as a result the Constitutionalists now occupy that city. The movement toward the capital will be pushed with all vigor, according to reports reaching here.

MISS IRENE FOGG, WELLESLEY GIRL, GIVEN $7,000 FOR VOICE

A verdict of $7,000 was awarded for injuries that caused the loss of a soprano voice of promise, and changed the contour of her face, to Miss Irene L. Fogg of Auburndale, a student at Wellesley, by a jury in Judge Brown's session of the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge. Miss Fogg sued John B. Walcott for $20,000, alleging that his car, driven by a chauffeur, struck her on Central street, Auburndale, May 14, 1913.

Her jaw was broken in two places, and there were injuries to her back and nervous system.

Dr. Charles D. Fillebrown of Boston testified that he performed fifty-one operations on Miss Fogg, removing supports and resetting her upper and lower jaws. The effect, he said, was a shortening of the under jaw and a narrowing of the face between the eyes. It was practically remodeling the girl's face, he told the jury, a very remarkable operation that was rewarded with great success.

With the exception of two wounds under her chin, which are hardly visible, Miss Fogg has no disfiguring marks, although her photographs taken before the accident were given to the jurors that they might note the change in her facial lines.

The loss of the soprano voice was ascribed to the shock and effect on her nervous system. Teachers and others testified to her voice and the outlook for success in the musical way, but since the accident she has been unable to sing.

Miss Fogg was completing her junior year at Wellesley when she was hurt. She was ill during 1914, and last Fall had recovered sufficiently to take special courses.

Steals Two Hams; Is Sentenced for Life

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—William Cline stole two hams, pleaded guilty before Judge Petit and was sentenced today to the penitentiary for life under the old offender statute. The Court read from a record that Cline had served several terms in the house of correction and had twice been in the penitentiary.

"The world will be informed," concluded the Court, "that I have sentenced a man for life for stealing two hams. I have not done that. Your record shows you to be a crook."

A parallel case is that of Louis Oliver, sentenced for life in Lansing, Mich., in 1904, for stealing a ham. After serving ten years he was paroled.

'Happy' Warns 20 of Fire Danger

"Happy" Rubinovitz, king of the newsboys, is a real hero. "Happy" was busy telling his troubles to a reporter in the editorial room of the AMERICAN. The reporter saw a flash of flame on the top floor of the Devonshire Overall Company on Devonshire street, directly opposite, and called "Happy's" attention to it. Men and women could be seen working underneath the floor on which the fire was. With a bound "Happy" was out of the office. He ran up two flights of stairs and with upraised arms shouted a warning to twenty men and women. They fled to the street.

Ask Law to Drive Pickpockets Away

Inaugurating a campaign to drive pickpockets out of Boston, Representative Samuel H. Milgram has filed a bill with the Legislature providing that a State's prison sentence of three months "shall" be imposed upon any person convicted of larceny from the person. He seeks to have "teeth" in the laws to keep out pickpockets from other cities.

Washington May Go Absolutely Dry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Absolute prohibition for the District of Columbia is a strong probability. Although the Senate voted to send the prohibition amendment to the District of Columbia Appropriation bill to the Senate Committee on Rules, by a vote of thirty-seven to thirty-four, it is predicted by members of that committee that a favorable report will be made to the Senate today, and that the amendment will pass.

Shaw Coming to U. S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Granville Barker, English actor and stage manager, has received word that George Bernard Shaw the English dramatist will come to New York within a few weeks. This will be Mr. Shaw's first visit to America.

MAN TRAMPLED BY HORSE IS DYING

HAVERHILL, Jan. 13.—Trampled by an angry horse, John Murphy of No. 198 School street, Groveland, is in a dying condition today at the Hale Hospital. Murphy's skull is fractured and numerous bones are broken.

He went into the stable which adjoins his home to harness his horse for a trip to Haverhill. As he led the animal from its stall, it bit him, threw him to the floor and trampled on him repeatedly.

The sound of the horse's neighing and heavy thudding of hoofs attracted neighbors who rushed to the stable and found Murphy unconscious on the floor.

After the animal had been subdued, Murphy was carried to his house where Dr. John O'Toole ordered his removal to the hospital. As Groveland is two miles beyond the Haverhill city limits, it was found that no ambulance was legally available.

Dr. O'Toole called Mayor Bartlett by telephone and the latter ordered the police ambulance to come to this town and take the injured man to the Hale Hospital.

Women Pray for National Dry Law

The Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold an all-day prayer service at State headquarters, No. 541 Massachusetts avenue, tomorrow at 10 a. m. and 1:30 p. m., the general topic being prayer for the success of the movement for National constitutional prohibition. The program has been prepared by the officers of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and will be used uniformly all over the nation. Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, State president, will preside.

Hyde Relieved of Duties at Harvard

William J. Hyde, who was recently arrested on the charge he was an accessory before the fact to the operation that caused the death of Miss Irene Richardson of Arlington, has been temporarily relieved of his duties as chief accountant at the Harvard Co-operative Store. Hyde, who is enrolled in the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, has not attended classes since his appearance in connection with the Richardson case.

Instal Dinneen for 20th Time Sunday

Former Alderman Maurice Dinneen of Malden will on Sunday afternoon be installed president of Hibernian Total Abstinence Asociation, No. 1 of Boston, for the twentieth year by the officers of the Boston Catholic Total Abstinence Union in Rathbone Hall, No. 694 Washington street, Boston. The organization has a membership of 500 men and women.

RUB RHEUMATISM PAIN FROM SORE, ACHING JOINTS

Rub pain away with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil."

What's Rheumatism? Pain only. Stop drugging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment, which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings. For sale by Riker-Jaynes and all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Mayor of Woburn Probes Phone Bills

Mayor Johnson of Woburn is investigating the city's telephone bills. He has held up payment on a bill submitted by John F. Boyle, superintendent of the moth department. The bills of the former commissioners of highways and water, and the recently abolished board of public works who had home telephone service at the expense of the city are also being probed.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

IN A paper read last year before the Bexar County Medical Society, and later published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W. Carhart, of San Antonio, Texas, a physician of wide reputation, who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis, said: "Since lime-salts constitute three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, or natural starvation ensues, with tuberculosis unchecked." He further claimed, according to "Medical Progress" (May, 1913, page 110), "that the widespread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to the decalcified (lime-lacking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

Thus, from another authoritative medical source comes justification for the use of lime in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Since this is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alterative, much of the success that has attended the widespread use of this remedy doubtless is due to the combination of this salt with other valuable ingredients in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. As compounded for many years, it seems to cause no stomach disturbance, and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

Eckman's Alterative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and allied chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

SHUGRUE CHOICE IN BOUT TONIGHT

By JACK CONWAY.

NEW YORK boxing "fans" should witness a regular, big league fight when Joe "Young" Shugrue and Leach Cross clash in a ten-round ring contest in Madison Square Garden tonight. Shugrue rules a favorite in the betting, but Cross is sure to give him a rugged battle.

The winner of this evening's whirl may be signed to exchange punches with Willie Ritchie in a Gotham ring. The former lightweight champion has not been very active since he lost his title to Freddy Welsh, but he says that he will soon be ready to meet all comers and that he would like to start his campaign by exchanging blows with the winner of tonight's encounter.

Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea, would also like to get a date with the victor of the New York tussle. Jimmy Johnston, manager of the boxing club which conducts shows in Madison Square Garden, tried to match Shugrue with Gallant instead of Cross, but the Jersey boy refused to have anything to do with Alex McLean's protege.

BOSTON has a new aspirant for ring honors. His name is Gerald "Young" Brusso. The youngster scales 142 pounds and informs us that he is ready to exchange punches with the leading boys of his weight in New England. Brusso has been active in Maine rings during the past few months and has given a fine account of himself. He made a good record in the amateur ranks and believes that he will show equally well with the money chasers. Just now Brusso would like to get a bout with "Young" Clany, "Belgium" Brown, George Siger or any of the other local ring men who have an idea that they are regular big league fighters.

SOME thrilling battles are looked for in the 115-pound class at the inter-city boxing tournament between New York, Brooklyn and Boston which will be held in Mechanics Building next Tuesday night. G. P. Friel of Somerville and Steve Phillips of Revere have been selected to represent our fair city. Philip Franchini, the Metropolitan champion who is fighting under the colors of the Trinity Club, and James Hogan, who grabbed off the high honors in the 115-pound class at the New York A. C. show on January 7, will represent New York and Brooklyn respectively.

N. E. TITLE BOUTS SET FOR MARCH 22

The amateur boxing championships of New England will be held in Mechanics' Hall Monday, March 22, under the auspices of the Boston Athletic Association.

Messrs. George V. Brown, R. B. Osthues and E. F. Walsh were appointed a committee to select the championship medals.

It was also decided that organizations outside the A. A. U. must have at least one member of the boxing committee present at their tournaments, to see that the amateur law is lived up to.

High Cost of Hockey Cause of Much Worry Among Harvard Men

The high cost of hockey is the main topic at Harvard today following the announcement that tickets to the Harvard-Princeton game in New York, Saturday, would be $2.50 and $3.

Last year several of the undergraduates entered a protest with the athletic association concerning the price of games in the Arena and as a result season tickets are now available for those games.

The price asked at New York exceeds that of the tickets for the Harvard-Yale football game, but the small size of the St. Nicholas rink in New York makes it possible for the management of the rink to demand this price.

Arena Hockey Team to Take on B. A. A.

Arrangements have been completed for a game between the B. A. A. and the Boston Arena Hockey Club to be played at the Boston Arena next Tuesday night. The game will be preliminary to the series which is to be arranged later in the season.

"The Rabbit's" Column

By Walter J. Maranville, Shortstop of the Braves

What do you know about a guy sending me the following:

Dear Rabbit: I see by the papers that agents of the Federal League have filed affidavits saying that they know where ball players have been traded for dogs. Don't you think the dogs ought to sue the Feds for libel?"

* * *

That's a hot one, I'll admit, but I dare say there are persons who write letters to newspapers who are really of no more worth to the community than a homeless mongrel dog.

How's that for a comeback?

* * *

Here's a letter I like better:

"Dear Rabbit: What play do you consider the most important in the last world's series?

Somerville. J. D. SEE.

A question like the above opens up all sorts of arguments and if generally discussed would bring forth a score of different answers.

* * *

It is a hard question to answer, but after thinking over the matter very carefully I have come to the conclusion that the double play made by Charley Schmidt and Chuck Deal in the first inning of the first game was the most important play of the series. I'll tell you why I think so.

* * *

In the first place we Boston players were all nerved up to this series. While we were confident of winning we all thought we had a tough job in front of us.

* * *

It was the first game of the series. Our side had been retired in the first half of the first inning without scoring. The Athletics went to bat and began their attack. Murphy, the first man up, got a pass, as I recall it, and took second on an out. When Baker came up he knocked a high foul away back of first. Schmidt got under it after a hard run and the moment the ball was caught Murphy sprinted for third. Schmidt threw straight as a die to Deal who took the ball on the bound and, quick as a flash, touched Murphy as he slid into third base.

* * *

By that double play in the very first inning of the game—a great double play, perfectly made—the rally of the Athletics was snuffed out. The play put new life into every member of our team. It had a correspondingly depressing affect on our opponents. It showed them we were not bush leaguers and that we were not to be trifled with. It showed our boys that the Athletics could be stopped if we only played our game.

Coming as it did, just at the opening of the series, I consider this double play the most important play of the series.

* * *

They say that in view of the fact that the highest court in Pennsylvania has ruled that the option or reserve clause in a player's contract is legal and binding Ed Konetchy, who jumped the Pirates to sign with the Pittsfeds, has been advised that he cannot play a game with the so-called outlaws in the Smoky City. Barney Dreyfuss is prepared to enjoin Konetchy, so that the Pittsfeds in seventy-seven games at home will be deprived of his services.

If Konetchy decides to remain in the Federal League instead of accepting an engagement with the Giants he will have to be transferred to some other club in the Gilmore circuit. Even then he will not be allowed to wear a uniform in Pittsburgh.

* * *

(1) Did you ever play on a team with the late "Nick" Ruflange? (2) To settle an argument, where is your old teammate, Tom Griffith? A says Indianapolis. B says Boston Braves. (3) How did Tom Dowd "nab" you to come to New Bedford?

NEW BEDFORD ROOTER.

(1) Don't seem to recall him. (2) Last I heard of Tom Griffith he was with the Indianapolis American Association team. I read in the papers that he was released to Cincinnati last Monday. (3) He never told me.

Stafford on Track.

Coach McCarty of the Tufts College track team reports the return of "Heinie" Stafford, the veteran second baseman of the varsity baseball nine to the squad.

Mayer Again Beaten.

Playing the best 18.2 balkline billiards ever seen in Boston, Nate Hall of this city defeated Joe Mayer of Philadelphia in the second block of their 2,000-point game

BOWLERS IN GREAT RUSH FOR PRIZES
AMERICAN'S TOURNEY SCORES A STRIKE

FIRST WEEK OF CONTEST ENDS TODAY

The Boston AMERICAN'S candlepin bowling tournament has taken hold for sure. Never before in the history of the alley game in New England have the bowlers displayed so much interest in a contest of its kind.

The fact that the tournament is open to the women as well as the men has made a decided hit with the fair sex, as it is the first chance they have had to compete in a big tourney.

Entries are pouring in fast. That the bowlers have lost no time in rolling their qualification strings is shown by the large number of replies already received by the Contest Editor.

The competitors should bear in mind, the bowling week runs from Thursday midnight to Thursday midnight. This is the short week of the tournament, as it did not open until last Monday. It will close tomorrow at midnight.

The ten men bowlers who make the ten highest scores for three consecutive strings will be announced in the Sunday AMERICAN. They will meet in a one-string roll-off the following Saturday. The prizes will be awarded to the three high men in the roll-off. This rule will hold good throughout the tournament.

A roll-off will not be necessary to decide the women's prize. The woman rolling the highest three strings on any alley in Greater Boston will be awarded the special prize.

Every roller in Greater Boston, man or woman, is invited to enter the contest.

It costs nothing to win a prize and as this is the biggest and most extensive bowling contest—or series of contests—ever held in New England, it is important that each and every bowler send in his or her enrollment blank as early as possible.

The following prizes will be awarded each week:

First Prize	$20.00
Second Prize	10.00
Third Prize	5.00
Special Woman's Prize	5.00

The prizes will consist of merchandies. You can have anything you want at any store you choose to the value of the prize won and the Boston AMERICAN will pay the bill. The merchandise prizes are given to protect you against becoming professionals.

CALL FOR ALLEY NOW.

In order that the largest possible number of bowlers will have a chance at these weekly prizes, no prize winner will be eligible to compete in succeeding contests after the one in which he wins a prize.

This eliminates each week four of the best bowlers, so that those whose ability may be a little below that of the prize winners will still have an opportunity.

Everybody has a chance. Get into the contest from the "jump." Send in your high scores. Win one of the Boston AMERICAN'S prizes.

For the purpose of publishing lists of alleys where bowlers may compete, it is requested that alley owners or managers send the names and addresses of their alleys, together with their names to the Boston American Bowling Contest, No. 5 Winthrop square.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. The prizes, in order, will be given to the winners of a weekly Saturday one-string roll-off tournament held by the AMERICAN.

2. Those eligible to bowl in this Saturday tournament each week will be the ten bowlers who make the ten highest scores for three consecutive strings, candlepins, as described below in Rules 3 and 8.

3—The contest is open to anybody who bowls three consecutive strings, candlepins, on any alley in Greater Boston and who has not won money prizes in professional competion.

4. In order to compete, you must enroll in the Boston AMERICAN Bowling Contest on a coupon published in another column (or a copy thereof). Your enrollment must be in the hands of the editor of the contest when or before you present your first score. One enrollment per person is sufficent for all scores.

5. Each bowling week shall run from Thursday midnight to Thursday midnight.

6. After you have bowled your three strings foot up the total on the "scoring coupon" published in another column, sign it with your name and address, and have proprietor or manager of the alley and one other witness sign it, with their names and addresses.

7. Send or bring to the office of the Boston AMERICAN Bowling Contest, No. 5 Winthrop square, BEFORE NOON ON SATURDAY. Any scores received after SATURDAY NOON will be barred. It will not do to mail them unless you are sure the scores will arrive at the office BEFORE SATURDAY NOON.

8. Any person who has already won a prize in the contest will be barred from further prizes.

9. A special woman's prize will go to the woman making the highest score on any alley in Greater Boston. No roll-off will be held on this special woman's prize.

10. The list of the ten bowlers who are eligible to participate in the Saturday roll-off and also all those making high scores will be published in the Boston Sunday AMERICAN on the Sunday following the close of each weekly contest. The prize winners and scores of each Saturday roll-off will be printed in the following day's Boston Sunday AMERICAN. The names of persons enrolling in the contest will be printed from time to time in the daily AMERICAN. Remember, IT IS NECESSARY TO ENROLL ON THE COUPON printed in another column (or a copy thereof). SQUARE ALONE IN CHAUNCY'S CLASS

By J. P. MURPHY.

THE City Bowling League race has developed into a two-team affair. While it is generally conceded that Chauncy will win the championship, Bill Beatty's quintet still has one team to fight off before its title is secure, and that team is Adams Square.

If Chauncy is to be overtaken Adams Square is the only team in the league that will be able to do it at this stage of the game. This is the writer's way of thinking.

* * *

IN the first place Adams Square is 11 points behind Chauncy, while the next team, Carruth, is 17. The rest of the teams are strung along in close order, with Casino bringing up the rear, seven points back of Carruth. So it can be seen by this that in order to catch Chauncy, Carruth must cover three-quarters more ground than Adams Square. This, the writer believes, Carruth cannot do.

* * *

THE writer's opinion is based on a careful study of the season's records of all the teams, together with these facts:

Of the thirteen defeats charged to Chauncy this season, Adams Square inflicted seven.

Adams Square has won seven out of twelve games from Chauncy in their three meetings.

Adams Square is the only team which has the better of Chauncy thus far.

These are the facts, and after they have been looked over we believe that there are others who will agree with us. And there are many who will disagree, but you must expect this. But the good book says every man is entitled to his own opinion, so this goes.

* * *

TONIGHT will mark the closing of the first half of the City League schedule.

Of the matches this evening the one between Adams Square and Boylston, scheduled for the latter alleys, stands out as the feature. Adams Square will have plenty to contend with, for Boylston, though now bowling to the form displayed in past years, is sure to make a good showing on its own lanes.

* * *

CHAUNCY will meet Murray. The South End bowlers broke even in their last clash with the leaders, but it is doubtful if they will be able to do as well on the Chauncy alleys, where the opposing teams have found the home rollers unbeatable.

* * *

CARRUTH will show its wares at Casino. In their last contest at the Casino alleys the Hanover street bowlers established a team record, which they later broke.

* * *

THE Newton League will open its Boston pin season of fourteen weeks tonight. This organization has just closed a successful bottlepin tournament.

* * *

* * *

MT. BOWDOIN and Mt. Vernon of the Columbus Club organization have the men who should help out their teams to a better standing than they now hold. There is no denying the fact that Frank Walsh is sadly missed by Mt. Vernon.

* * *

PERE MARQUETTE and Valladolid are carded for the big tussle at the K. of C. session this evening. Third place is at stake. Valladolid has an outside chance to going into second position.

* * *

PRESIDENT GEORGE GONIA and the directors of the Somerville City League will meet today at the Union Hall alleys.

* * *

ATKINSON is again treading on the heels of Osgood in the Furniture League. There is still some few points between them and the lead, but the Atkinson bowlers expect to regain the honor berth before many more weeks have passed.

* * *

AFTER getting away to a very bad start, John McGrath has rolled a grand game in the last six weeks and in consequence Jamaica Plain is now pushing toward the top of the Columbus Club League.

WOMEN TO PRESS FIGHT FOR VOTES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Suffrage leaders professed gratification today at the vote obtained in the House, which refused to submit to the States an amendment to the Federal Constitution to enfranchise women. The vote was 204 in favor of and 174 against the amendment. A two-thirds vote was necessary for its passage.

Anti-suffrage leaders today asserted their belief that the vote shows suffrage is losing ground.

This was the second defeat for the suffrage cause in Congress within a year. March 19 last an equal suffrage constitutional amendment proposed by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon received a vote of 35 to 34 in the Senate, obtaining a bare majority, but failing of the necessary two-thirds.

Suffragist leaders today, however, were not dismayed. Led by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and other champions of the cause, they declared that the fight was by no means over, and that the suffrage propaganda would be pressed forward and onward until every woman in America should have the right to cast a ballot.

"The result was what we expected," said Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage. "It means that the suffrage movement, fostered by hysterical women, is on the wane."

Often during the at times bitter debate preceding the vote Speaker Clark was forced to interrupt the speakers on the floor, fill the chamber with the deafening battering of his gavel, and warn both members and spectators that order must be preserved.

The turmoil culminated in a storm of hissing that greeted a speech made by Representative Bowdle of Ohio opposing the amendment. He had treated the subject humorously and remarked that the "women of Washington are beautiful, but they have no interest in affairs of State."

In his remarks, which led to the hissing incidents, Representative Bowdle told of an investigation which he made of newspaper reading and buying among Washington women. His conclusions were that women buy one paper to thirty-three bought by men and that as street car newspaper readers the ratio among women is as one to thirty-nine, and among men the readers are one to two.

"Women generally," he said, "are not interested in politics—for which the saints be praised—for I do not like to think of the day when papa's purse will be called upon to contribute to opposing political wigwams. One is aplenty.

"Yes, Mr. Speaker, the women of this smart capital are beautiful—indeed, their beauty is positively disturbing to business. Their feet are beautiful, their ankles are beautiful, but here I must pause—all this do I assert on that kind of evidence required by Greenleaf's first rule—but they are not interested in affairs of state."

This drew more hisses, and Representative Bowdle remarked:

"This is the last chance of the institution known in the United States as the 'Old Man' to save his pants.

"I suggest that American women, instead of going into politics, resolve on an investigation of the race suicide question and examine into the menace to our nation found in the fact that within ten years a multitude of American women, with great fortunes gathered by American men have laid them to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars at the feet of foreign lords and dukes.

"The need of this country is more marriage," Mr. Bowdle concluded. "America needs a new baptism of the old time masculinity. We need the old type of feminine women."

Representative Dies, Democrat, of Texas, opposed the resolution.

North Hadley Boy Corn Prize Winner

The prize winners in the Massachusetts boys' and girls' corn growing contest for 1914 have just been announced by Professor O. A. Morton of the Massachusetts Agricultural College. The winner of first prize, a trip to Washington, was John E. Devine of North Hadley. On one acre he raised 105 bushels of corn on the ear as weighed in the field, on which he realied a profit of $40.10.

The second prize, a trip to points of interest in New England, was won by Bernard Hartnett of North Hadley. He raised 90.5 bushels with a profit of $37.32. Third prizes were won by Ferdinand J. Ice of Williamsburg, Donald Lent of Maynard and Luman Barber of Bernardstown. The honor of the largest yield goes to Russell G. Skinner of Brimfield, who produced 118 bushels to the acre.

How Congressmen Voted on Suffrage

The House vote on suffrage shows for the amendment—Democrats 86, Republicans 72, Progressives 12, Progressive Republicans 3, Independent 1—total 174.

Against the amendment—Democrats 171, Republicans 33.

New England Congressman voted as follows:

For—Deitrick, Gallivan, Mitchell, Phelan, Roberts, Rogers and Treadway of Massachusetts; Stevens of New Hamshire; Guernsey of Maine; O'Shaunnessey of Rhode Island and Riley of Connecticut.

Against—Gardner, Gillett, Greene, Paige, Thacher and Winslow of Massachusetts; Green and Plumley of Vermont, Reed of New Hampshire; McGillicuddy and Hinds of Maine; Gerry of Rhode Island; Donavan, Kennedy, Lonergan and Mahan of Connecticut.

PRAISE BAY STATE CHILD LABOR VIEW

"Massachusetts was praised for its child labor legislation at the recent annual conference at Washington," said Richard K. Conant, secretary of the Massachusetts Child Labor Committee, who has just returned from the conference held at the national capital under the auspices of the National Child Labor Committee.

According to Secretary Conant, more people today in the South are interested in correct legislation about child labor.

"This was one of the most favorable signs in the two days' conference," remarked Mr. Conant.

"We felt all during the discussion that there was an awakening through the South on child labor. The importance of giving every child its best possible advantages in its early years was well emphasized.

"All during the conference, the attitude of this State and its interest in child labor were referred to in complimentary terms. The eight-hour law for the boy or girl of fourteen which is now in operation in many States was a source for much questioning. To keep this law on the statute books has been the price of constant effort as there were six bills filed against it in this State during the last year.

"The matter of medical inspection before going to work proved to be another interesting topic of inquiry. When the Federal Children's charter is in operation through the direction of the Children's Bureau at Washington a more extended interest in this important subject may be looked for.

"We in Massachusetts have need to congratulate ourselves that the cause which is so dear to us, has grown elsewhere in States, where opposition was stronger against it only a few years ago.

"But the people are studying carefully this whole subject of child labor and as well as its relation to other matters bearing upon the physical welfare and endurance of the human race."

'ADVERTISING BIG SUCCESS FACTOR'

Frank A. Black, in describing the success of the William Filene's Sons Company to the Retail Advertising Forum of the Pilgrim Publicity Association, attributed it to the advertising and business policy of the firm.

Mr. Black, who was formerly connected with the Marshall Field store in Chicago and the John Wanamaker store in New York, is connected with the advertising department of Filenes.

He explained that newspaper advertising formed the largest item in the publicity expenses of the store, which are estimated at about 5 per cent. of the total volume of business. Of the newspaper advertising, he believed in that type which keeps the public informed, rather than in the "bargain" sensation.

ESTIMATE OF BUSINESS.

The volume of business is estimated rather on the buying capacity of the public than on any estimate of the need, expectation of or ability to sell of any department. In part, Mr. Black said:

Having a clothing business in the main, we make emphasis in our advertising upon style as a great element, and following that in the order of publicity value, we put fit, completeness of stock, service and profit. We put profit last because we believe, with the philosopher, that he who serves most will most profit.

The Filene company plans each year to spend 5 per cent. of its total business in advertising, and of this 2 per cent. is newspaper advertising. The big firms on this continent are by no means a unit in their beliefs as regards how much percentage to spend on advertising.

I attended a conviction of advertising managers last year at Toronto and found that there was a range of from 1 to 10 per cent. The reason for the wide variation is that some things are charged to publicity in one store and not in others.

ADVERTISING ITEMS.

In Filene's one item that is not inconsiderable is the cost of cleaning money for use in our restaurant. We always make it a point to give our patrons new shiny money. To advertising, we charge also the salaries of our musicians, the programs, the wireless plant on our roof and the occasional trips of our salesmen, when on a tour of education or investigation.

The second largest item on our monthly budget is our window rental. We charge fixed rental per window to our advertising account, and it is very large because of our location. Some stores would charge it to rent. Then we have twenty-three window decorators, perhaps more than any store in the United States, who exercise their skill upon 100 inside and 50 outside windows.

We consider our advertising department as unusually effective, because it is the Filene policy to give a man authority equal to his responsibility, and the advertising manager is a member of the board of four which governs the store and has an equal say with the other three.

Open New Winthrop Theatre Tonight

The new Empire Theatre in the Ocean Spray section of Winthrop will be formally opened this evening, with the management inviting Governor Walsh, Mayor Curley and other prominent citizens to be present. The proprietors are former Representative Dennis A. O'Neill and Charles L. Winston, both of East Boston. Mr. O'Neill is known in fraternal circles as well as on Beacon Hill. Mr. Winston has managed several New England theatres. Moving pictures and vaudeville will be offered.

MANY THRILLS IN 'BEN HUR' DRAMA

"Ben Hur," the celebrated Biblical drama which has held the board for sixteen years, returned to Boston last night in a brand new production, and played for the first time in its history at popular prices. There was a big audience at the Boston Theatre, despite the inclemency of the weather.

The chariot race leaves a lasting impression in the minds of the audience. Ben Hur, impersonated by Richard Buhler, is seen driving his spirited steeds in the rear of Messala, played by John Milton, who has quite a lead on his competitors. By degrees Ben Hur's chariot moves up until he succeeds in getting abreast of Messala's horses. The excitement is intense.

Ben Hur stands erect in his chariot. He swings his whip several times over the heads of his horses, and just as they are passing Messala's chariot the nigh wheel of the chariot falls off, and Messala is seen to fall out just as Ben Hur passes him and wins the race.

The shifting of the scene shows Ben Hur still erect in his chariot, holding the reins. A crowd of men and women in Oriental costume occupy the stage. One of their number places a wreath on Ben Hur's head. This is followed by rounds of cheers from the crowd.

The race is not the only gripping feature of the drama. The glorious beauty of the East, the radiance of color, the richness of fabric and exquisite tones of sky and landscape are simulated with perfect truth and delicacy in the exposition of this truly great drama. There are five acts, each of which is replete with thrilling episodes.

The "healing of the lepers" in the last act shows Ben Hur to be intensely religious. Walter M. Sherwin, Leslie Stowe, George Sydenham, Herbert De Guere, Charles Canfield, Rowan Caulfield, George Wilkes, Harry Smith, Cassius C. Quimby, John Hogan, Frederick Scates, Bissell Putnam, Virginia Howell, Alice Haynes, Mary Condon, Martha Boucher and Maud Ream Stover ably support Mr. Buhler in the presentation of the drama.

Alarming Death Rate From

CANCER

75,000 DIE yearly of this disease. About 30,000 die from cancer of stomach and liver; 12,000 of the uterus; 18,000 of the intestines and 5,000 of the breast. Between 1880 and 1910 the cancer rate in Massachusetts rose from 45 to 85.

If you have a lump or sore in the breast, face, lip or on any part of the body, come here at once or send for symptom list and 72-page booklet. We never use the knife; our treatment is by absorption, and that it is successful is proven by hundreds of cured patients.

"Stand Aside, Mother—You Don't Know Enough to Vote"

The Vilest Man Would Be Ashamed to Say That to His Own Mother. But in Nearly All States That Is What the Law Says TO ALL MOTHERS.

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

The picture at the top of this page is an exact picture of the mental machinery of the underbred, half intelligent, THOROUGHLY UNGRATEFUL son of woman, who believes that woman is unfit to vote.

Proud man, as a BABY, is very glad to lie on his mother's breast, to be fed and cared for, and protected, perhaps, against a drunken father. His mother seems to him quite intelligent enough to attend to THAT work.

A little later, proud man is glad to have mother comb his hair, wipe his nose, and tuck him in bed, and save and skimp, denying herself, that he may have decent clothes, and not be laughed at by the boys at school. She does not seem to him inferior at THAT moment.

And when his first big sorrow comes—when some girl has had the good sense to tell him that he looks very silly to her, and not worth thinking about, he is glad to get comfort for his pride and his torn heart from that same mother. To him she then seems like the incarnation of ALL wisdom and of all goodness.

But watch him a little later, when, thanks to her care, he has been "raised," pulled through one sickness after another, and has reached the age of twenty-one.

Then a strange and interesting change comes over his magnificent intellect.

HE IS GOING TO VOTE.

And all of a sudden, "Mother," becomes a pitiful inferior, not to be spoken of in the same breath with her distinguished son.

"Stand aside, Mother," says he. "This is too deep and too profound for you."

She knows what life IS, what the dangers are that attract boys especially.

If she is rich and her boy has had money, she knows to her sorrow the curse of whiskey and of gambling.

Her own goodness does not save her from suffering through her son. But she is merely the mother of the son, and must not be permitted to vote against the politicians and the corruptionists who live by gambling and whiskey.

If she is poor she has struggled to feed and clothe that boy from his babyhood. Her pitiful income has been taxed by one trust after another. But she is not good enough to vote to protect herself against those trusts that inflict upon her taxation without representation.

She has seen streets, parks and schools neglected, immorality, degradation and blackmail permitted at her very door—and she must not vote to protect herself against the vile system that is the result of VOTES BY MEN EXCLUSIVELY.

Pity the poor dog calling himself a man who would not be willing to let his own mother vote.

But do not permit him to say that the vote shall not be given to the mothers of other men.

If a man admits, as he must admit, that the goodness, patience, devotion of the human race are seen especially in the mothers, how in the name even of brutality can any man deny that those qualities of good women should find expression at the polls.

All women will vote in this country—and very soon—in spite of brutality, ignorance, bigotry, that wants women kept ignorant, and the monkey-like conceit that has distinguished a majority of men thus far.

Honor to the States that have already given the vote to women, or rather honor to the earnest, determined women who have COMPELLED the giving of the vote. For, to their shame be it said, not in any single State of the Union would a majority of men in their present state of civilization give women the vote if it were not extorted from them.

A Little Picture of "Proud Man"

SORROW

By JANE M'LEAN

I AM the way of life and love,
Though shunned and scorned by wayward youth,
Who reads the star words up above,
And fears the awesome eyes of truth.

Come hide your face upon my breast,
And learn the solace bought with grief;
Tears wash away the soul's unrest,
And bring you peace and sweet relief.

Why flee my dark and sombre gown,
I would your needless fears destroy;
Who knows my sister wears my crown,
She is my twin, her name is Joy.

Why and How the Earth Shines as a Bright Star to the Eyes of the Inhabitants of Other Planets, and Why It Is Not Extinguished by Night

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"IF the planets in the heavens are worlds like this one, does our world shine to them as theirs do to us? And, if so, what is it that causes this planet to shine to the others and look so dark to us only when light comes from somewhere else?

"C. M. B."

Yes, the earth does shine to the eyes of the inhabitants of other planets, if there be such inhabitants, in the same manner as those planets shine to our eyes. The sun, in the centre of the planetary system, furnishes the light, and it is reflected from the non-self-luminous surfaces of the planets, thus making them visible to one another, as the faces of persons sitting in a dark room are rendered visible by the turning on of an electric lamp.

The relative amount of light reflected to us from any planet depends upon four things, viz.: First, the size of the planet; second, its distance from the sun; third, its distance from the earth; fourth, the character of the planet's surface, which may be more or less reflective for light.

Among these causes the most striking in its effects is distance. For instance, the planet Jupiter has a surface about 125 times greater than that of the planet Venus; but Venus, when nearest, appears much brighter to us than Jupiter when nearest, because Venus is then fifteen times nearer than Jupiter, and what it lacks in relative size it more than gains through relative nearness, the light increasing as the square of the decrease of distance. Venus also gains brilliance relative to Jupiter in consequence of her greater nearness to the source of the light, which results in her surface being, area for area, more brightly illuminated than that of Jupiter.

The Effects of Night

As to your second question, you appear to be confused by the effects of night upon the inhabitants of the earth. As our planet turns rapidly on its axis we are about half the time on the side that is toward the sun and half the time on the side away from the sun, but the cone of shadow that rests upon the night side of the earth is only about 860,000 miles long, coming to a point and vanishing at that distance. To an eye situated anywhere outside that cone some part of the earth would be seen illuminated by the sunshine, unless the line of sight coincided with the axis of the shadow cone, in which case the earth would appear as a dark circle, either covering the sun or forming a black dot on its disk, according as the observer were nearby (as he would be if on the moon) or far off (as he would be if on any one of the planets).

Consequently, when we upon the earth are buried in night our planet may still be perfectly visible to the inhabitants of the other planets, because they are outside the cone of the earth's shadow, and light is reflected to their eyes from parts of the earth's surface which to them are in the sunshine. But the brightness or apparent size of their planets varies to us, and for the same reasons—viz., variation of distance and change of place resulting in a difference in the amount of planetary surface illuminated by the sun.

Venus Very Bright

An illustration of what has just been said may be seen in the case of the planet Venus. When that planet is very brilliant in the western evening sky, if you look at her with a telescope you will find that only about half her surface appears illuminated by the sun, and she presents the figure of a half-moon. When she is on the far side of the sun from the earth she looks like a full moon in the telescope, but then her total brightness is greatly reduced because of the greater distance.

The earth looked at from Venus when that planet is between the earth and the sun and is temporarily lost to our view in the solar glare, glows at midnight on the meridian of the sky of Venus with a splendor far greater than any planet ever shows to us, because it then turns its fully illuminated face toward Venus at the moment when the two planets are at their points of nearest approach.

If it seems strange to you that the sunlight reflected from the surface of the earth should be bright enough to make our planet visible millions of miles away, you may reflect upon an experiment of Sir John Herschel at the Cape of Good Hope. He observed that when the face of Table Mountain was illuminated by the sunshine its brightness exceeded in intensity that of the face of the full moon.

Modern Advertisements

By ELBERT HUBBARD

MODERN advertisements are neither blatant nor latent. They are never flamboyacious nor flatulent; instead they are fecund and fruitful.

Blatant advertisements are those that bawl and brag and bluster.

The man stands in the door of his booth and pounds a drum.

Such methods may attract attention, but once our curiosity is satisfied we cling close to our weasel-skin and hug our prejudices pre-conceived.

* * *

The blatant advertisement with the ballyhood bias defeats its purpose because it repels. It cheats us of the joy of discovery, just as teachers who are too wise cause us to close our cosmic pores and crawl into our psychic cavities, pulling the aperture in after us.

Latent ads. are those written by blase octogenarians whose souls are in cold storage. They give us phlebotinic frappe, and hand us the obvious in line.

Such need not be considered, for, while they might do to publicize the Mummy Trust, they appeal to people of purpose, nix.

* * *

The whole is flavored with the wit of goodwill and tinted with wisdom.

After this the product is gently rubbed down with the carborundum of surprise.

It is then ready for the consumer.

The brazen bazoo is not in use.

The cluck and click, an ge-up and go-long of overstatement is suggespielt.

* * *

Modern ads. purl and cuddle and coo. They possess wit and tinkle, linger long and late, and have an aura and an aroma that make you stop, look and listen.

They lure like a lute in which there is no rift.

They do not ask you either to read or peruse them. You do—because you cannot help it.

You are human, and being human you are also divine.

The hyacinths, Felix, thanks.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

Idle Speculation

A scientist has discovered that a man ought to do as much mental and physical work in stale air as in fresh air.

I USED to think my enmity to all known forms of work
Was due to the bacteria that in my system lurk.
"It is no use," I told myself, "to try to slave and grind;
The inroads of these deadly germs my health has undermined."
And then a doctor came along and said: "The system needs
A lot of germ activity to prompt one to great deeds."

BUT as I still was disinclined to toil or even spin,
I blamed a frail digestion for the state that I was in.
"If I had got a stevedore's prodigious appetite,"
I reasoned, "the mere name of work would not fill me with fright."
And then another doctor came and looked at me a minute
And said: "Forget that foolishness. There's simply nothing in it."

"AHA," said I, "at last I know. This deadly grudge I bear
Against the loathsome thing called toil is due to the stale air.
If I were on a mountain top, where air is thin and pure
And there were lots of it around, I'd get to work, I'm sure."
But still another doctor comes and says he'd put in jail
A man who will not work because the air he breathes is stale.

AND so I still must cast about to find the reason why
While others sweat and plug and toil, I'M standing idly by;
Much pleased to see them active in pursuit of place and pelf,
But very firmly disinclined to do the like myself.
What influence affects me thus I really cannot guess,
Unless, as certain friends insist, it's just plumb laziness.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox —ON— WHAT MAN LIKES IN WOMAN

She Must Talk Well, but Not Too Much. She Must Be Modest and Have Wit and Charm

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

THAT a man likes beauty goes without saying, as that a bee likes flowers. But as the bee only flutters about a flower which contains no honey-yielding property, so man only lingers a brief time about the beauty without wit or charm.

A man likes a woman to be capable of talking well at times, but he does not care for the garrulous girl. He likes to be listened to himself, and objects to the girl who monopolizes the conversation almost as much as to the one who does not talk at all.

He secretly likes a slightly unconventional girl, but he is so sensitive to public comment that he is afraid to openly show his liking for her unless she is well grounded socially. And he is quick to censure if she defies the proprieties or violates absolute good form.

Afraid to Be Seen with Woman Whose Dress Is Odd

A man is utterly lacking in independence regarding these matters, and far more sensitive to public opinion than the weaker sex. However much he might enjoy the society of a woman who defied conventional rules of dress or deportment, he would not be seen in public with her if he could avoid it. And a lapse from good morals does not offend him as quickly as a lapse from good manners. A man likes discretion, but he invites indiscretion from women. In order to please him in the matter of conduct and morals, she must do exactly the opposite to his either bold or subtle suggestions. He will advise her to be discreet with others, but himself tempt her to folly merely to flatter his own vanity. But he is disappointed and disillusioned if she yields. There are few exceptions to this rule. All men are alike in this instinct, and in their secret hearts hope that virtue will withstand temptation. A man likes an enthusiastic woman, but he abhors gush. The girl who enjoys herself thoroughly and is not afraid to show her enjoyment, always wins more admirers than the languid beauty who is forever "bored."

Man is afraid of the woman who boasts of her conquests. The woman who tells a man how many proposals she has received and rejected from his disappointed fellow-men destroys his respect for and confidence in her discretion, and he is very sure not to add one more proposal to her list.

He likes a hint of daring in a woman's nature, but he wants it hidden and controlled. Then he enjoys thinking how he can develop this dangerous trait, and congratulates himself on being an excellent fellow when he does not attempt it.

Likes Cheerful, Optimistic Woman, Though He May Argue for Pessimism

A man likes a woman of sympathetic feeling and affectionate nature, but he is afraid of the intensely emotional one. She tires and fatigues him, and is liable to be exacting in her demands, or at least he fears that she might be. The highly emotional woman needs to wear an armor of control and repose, no matter what it costs her to do so, if she would be pleasing to man. Let her nature be suspected and it fascinates; let it be discovered, and it ennuis.

A man likes a cheerful and optimistic woman, though he may strive with all his might to convert her to pessimism. Yet the ready-made cynic in woman's form shocks him. However erroneous the idea, man regards woman as the sunlight and the life, and expects her to drive away malarial mists from his mind and shadows from his heart by her warmth and light.

Though she be accomplished, beautiful and talented, she will lose ground with the opposite sex if she is cynical or sad. Every man likes to create his own pessimist. He does not wish to find one.

In-Shoots

The dead beat is usually very much alive when creditors are in pursuit.

It is better to break a New Year resolution than never to resolve at all.

A good many of our sorrows are due to the ignorance of the other fellow.

The morning-after beauty doctor can also occasionally cover a multitude of sins.

It is possible to live scientifically and not live very well.
